SOVIET DECISION TO RESUME A-TESTS CALLED HAZARD TO WORLD BY KENNEDY

* * *

'Mankind's Desire Ignored by Reds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Wednesday night accused the Soviets of posing a hazard to every human being throughout the world by resuming atomic tests.

Kennedy ordered Ambassador Arthur Dean recalled from the nuclear test ban talks to see what the United States should do.

In a White House statement, Kennedy left open the question of what decision the United States will make about resuming nuclear test explosions, now that the Soviets plan to begin again.

The United States and Britain have been under self-imposed moratoriums since the Geneva talks on a treaty to outlaw tests started nearly three years ago in October, 1958.

'DEEPEST CONCERN'

Kennedy's statement, issued about three hours after word reached Washington of the Soviet decision, said:

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing will be met with deepest concern and resentment throughout the world.

HAZARD PRESENTED

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing presents a hazard to every human being throughout the world by increasing the dangers of nuclear fallout.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing is in utter disregard of the desire of mankind for a decrease in the arms race.

"The pretext offered by the announcement for Soviet resumption of weapons testing is the very crisis which they themselves have created by threatening to disturb the peace which has existed in Germany and Berlin.

"The purpose and motivation

Berlin 'Peril' Faced

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday described the situation in Berlin as "fraught with peril." He said the United States is determined to convince Russia that the West means to defend its rights there.

Kennedy, at a press conference, announced these measures for dealing with the crisis in Berlin:

FURTHER STEP

1. A meeting of the Western Big Four foreign ministers to begin in Washington Sept. 14. He said this would represent a further step in the process of continuing consultation among the Big Four "in light of the Soviet challenge."

2. The appointment of retired Gen. Lucius Clay as his personal representative in Berlin. He called Clay, who masterminded the 1948-49 airlift which thwarted the Communists' ground blockade of Berlin, a man of outstanding ability and experience.

'ALL CHANNELS'

Kennedy reiterated that the U.S. would use all available channels to ascertain if a peaceful settlement can be reached on the problems of Europe and in particular Germany.

"I do not see that there could be any solution, which would serve the world, on Berlin by force," Kennedy said.

A 21-year-old naval rating, Melvin Smith of HMCS Assiniboine, was in only fair condition last night after he fell from this car when it struck a jackknifing trailer truck at Johnson Street underpass. ## Collision Hurts Sailor 'He Shot Out Like Jet'

Hurled to the pavement when an empty flat-deck truck trailer jack-knifed and slammed into the car in which he was a passenger, a young naval rating suffered severe injuries yesterday afternoon.

Melvin Smith, 21, of HMCS Assiniboine, whose parents live in Penticton, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He sustained a fracture of the skull and other undetermined injuries. His condition last night was fair.

Amazingly, David Charles Eastick, 3983 Blenkinsop, driver of the car, escaped with bruises and torn clothing although his side of the car was almost demolished.

UNDER OVERPASS

The collision occurred immediately under the railway overpass on Johnson Street west of the bridge.

Eastick was driving towards Victoria and the truck, driven by Robert Skillings, 3446 Wascana, driver for Victoria Van and Storage, was heading towards Esquimalt.

Coming around the bend into the underpass of the road, the empty truck trailer skidded to the left.

Robert Irwin, 1350 Rockland, was driving out onto Johnson from Songhees.

"The trailer swung across the road," he said, "and there was a terrific crash. The navy lad didn't have anywhere to go.

"I saw a body shoot out of the car's door like a jet and hit the road. I hurried over and tried to make him comfortable."

SLAMMED BACK

Eastick's car was slammed backward about 25 feet in the crash, pinned between the truck cab and the trailer. Its entire left side was crushed in and there was no space at all on the driver's side between dashboard and seat.

"I don't know how I wasn't hurt," Eastick said later.

OUT THE DOOR

"The other chap went out the door the instant we hit, and I guess I was thrown over to his side."

Traffic was diverted from both ends of the bridge for almost an hour before the car and truck could be cleared away.

Forest Ban Over Soon?

Forest service officials said last night that in view of moderate rains which fell over most parts of Vancouver Island yesterday the total woods closure on the Island's east coast would be reviewed "within 24 hours."

Showers were forecast for this morning.

Soldier Gets Six Months For Long Hair

SEATTLE (AP)—A Washington soldier was sentenced to six months at hard labor and fined $420 at a court martial for failure to obey his commanding officer's order to get a haircut, it was reported yesterday.

An army spokesman was quoted as saying Pte. Theodore Fagin had been warned several times to get a haircut but failed to do so.

"He was disobedient," the army spokesman said. "Disobeying an order, even when told to get a haircut, is serious business."

Defiance of Military Mounting in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's top military leaders ruled Wednesday that leftist vice-president Joao Goulart must not return to Brazil "in the present situation" and attempt to take over the presidency. (See earlier story Page 8).

Their edict came as defiance of the military was reported to be mounting among legislators engaged in debate in an attempt to decide the nation's leadership and as Goulart was flying toward Brazil.

The military manifesto referred to the "absolute inconvenience in the present situation of Goulart's return to the country."

Shocked Nations Warned Of Super-Powerful Bombs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union stunned the world last night by announcing it will resume experimental explosions of nuclear weapons because of pressure from "imperialist countries."

The Soviet announcement warned that Russian scientists have worked out projects "for creating a series of super-powerful nuclear bombs" with a yield equivalent of up to 100,000,000 tons of TNT.

And the announcement added rockets similar to those used to boost the Soviet Union's two astronauts into orbit around the earth are capable of delivering the new bombs to any point on earth.

MEASURES TAKEN

The announcement—certain to make the United States review its suspension of nuclear tests since Aug. 22, 1958—was transmitted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Soviet scientists have taken every measure to minimize the harmful consequences of nuclear fallout on living organisms, Tass said.

'OPEN SECRET'

Canada's official policy is against nuclear weapon testing.

The Soviet announcement declared:

"It is an open secret that the United States is standing on the threshold of carrying out underground nuclear tests.

'CONCEALED FORM'

"It is obvious that such tests, even if it asserted that they were conducted for peaceful purposes, are nothing else but a concealed form of perfecting the available nuclear weapons or working on its new types."

The Russians announced suspension of nuclear weapons tests March 31, 1958. Dwight Eisenhower, then president, announced the following Aug. 22 that U.S. tests had been suspended.

GENEVA TALKS

The United States, Russia and Britain have been negotiating a permanent test ban in Geneva since Oct. 31, 1958. Both the United States and the Soviet Union threatened to resume nuclear testing if the negotiations were unsuccessful.

But until now, neither had been willing to risk offending world opinion particularly among non-aligned nations where opposition to testing has been strong.

'ARMED REBUFF'

"In order to discourage the aggressors from criminal playing with fire it is necessary to make sure that he knows and sees that there is a power in the world which is ready to give an armed rebuff to any encroachment on the independence and security of peace-loving states and that the hand of retribution will reach the aggressor in his own den," the statement said.

'NOT THREATENING'

But, it continued, the Soviet Union is not threatening anyone nor does it intend to attack any nation.

"The Soviet government solemnly declares that the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. will never be the first to resort to arms," it said.

INVASION RECALLED

The announcement explained the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union in 1941 was successful because of the German army's superiority in military equipment.

The Russians swept away the prospects of the Geneva conference in a blast of scorn for the West—and particularly France.

'OBEDIENT TOOL'

The Kremlin statement said "the entire course of negotiations in Geneva proves that the Western powers pursue the aim of actually legalizing those types of nuclear tests in which they are interested, and of establishing an international control body which would be an obedient tool in their hands.

"Hypocritical statements of representatives of the U.S. and Great Britain about the termination of tests and international control have proved to be nothing more than camouflage.

"France, encouraged by the United States and Britain, has been carrying out nuclear tests already for a long time in spite of warnings by the U.S.S.R. that it would be forced to resume tests if

Hell Bombs Outmatch U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear bombs in the 20, 30, 50 and 100,000,000-ton sizes, spoken of in the Moscow announcement that Russia plans to resume nuclear testing, are much bigger than anything the United States is supposed to have.

In atomic weapon parlance, a one-ton bomb has the explosive power equivalent to one ton of TNT. The first atomic bomb of the Second World War, which devastated the Japanese city of Hiroshima, was 20,000 tons, or only one-five-thousandths the power of a 100,000,000-ton bomb.

RCMP Rouse Chinese Ire

TORONTO (TNS) — A meat-cleaver in Winnipeg became a sign this week of the unrest in Canada's troubled Chinese community of 70,000.

Chinese communities across the country are taking a long, hard look at the events that led up to the attack by a Chinese-Canadian on a special RCMP officer last Friday.

VICTORIA, TOO

Special meetings have been called in Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Chinese in Victoria, Ottawa and Montreal are expected to follow suit.

Toronto's Chinese said the community will "fully investigate" the meat-cleaver incident.

Const. Sang Tuen Wong, on loan from Hong Kong police to help RCMP crack a Canada-wide Chinese immigration racket, suffered a four-inch scalp wound when he sought to question a Winnipeg restaurant employee.

LITTLE FELLOW

A Chinese Community Centre official in Toronto said:

"They've been pushing Canada's Chinese too far. They've been going after the little fellow who doesn't want to involve his own family here.

"The government originally promised it was launching investigations to get at the ringleaders of the underground illegal movement of Chinese."

One of the most acute and best-informed Ottawa observers of the national scene today becomes a direct contributor to the editorial page of The Daily Colonist, where his column will regularly appear.

He is Arthur M. Blakely, parliamentary chief of bureau and columnist of The Gazette, Montreal. At 46, Mr. Blakely has had a wealth of successful experience in Canadian journalism, with time out for wartime service in the RCAF, and has been parliamentary correspondent of The Gazette since 1946.

Many Colonist readers who have not previously had the pleasure of reading his column will know him, nevertheless, through his appearances as guest commentator and panelist on television and radio.

Mr. Blakely's first column in the Colonist appears on Page 4.

English Penny Wins Parking Case

NANAIMO (CP) — Clifford Williams got an overtime parking charge tossed out of court Wednesday with a defence that could have widespread repercussions elsewhere.

He contended, and Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts agreed, that "pennies" and "nickels" are not legal tender in Canada. Yet, he said, these were the terms used on Nanaimo's parking meters.

RCMP tagged Williams' car for overtime parking July 14 beside a meter reading: "12 minutes for each penny—60 minutes for one nickel."

Williams produced in court an English penny—much too large to go into any meter.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts described Williams' defence as "novel" and called a half-hour adjournment while court officials read law on the subject and police produced a meter official in court to confirm the wording.

After determining that Nanaimo's parking bylaw wording does not confirm to that on the meters—it uses the term "cents" instead of "pennies," the magistrate said pennies and nickels are not covered in the description of legal tender under the Currency Act.

He then dismissed the charge—with some advice to city fathers.

They should, he suggested, make haste to amend their bylaw to conform to the reading on the meters.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

WHAT happens when you cut down the bus service? Fewer people ride, and the service loses more money.

In an effort to stem the losses, the bus managers cut the service further. The routes are now even fewer and shorter, and therefore less convenient.

More people quit riding the buses, and get rides with neighbors, or buy cars or bicycles. The bus service loses more money.

They cut the bus routes again . . . and so the transit service diminishes in a downward spiral, like a snail withdrawing into his shell.

The logical end-product of this process is one little trolley going round and round the City Hall, stopping at the front door on the hour and at the back door on the half hour.

Even this bus loses money, because the people won't ride it. The bus doesn't take them where they want to go.

One little trolley bus, purring in the sun, the boss saw the balance sheet, and then there were none.

And so passes the transit system, a victim of self-cannabalism. Beginning at the tail, it has completely swallowed itself.

* * *

You may think this is funny, but you will smirk on the other side of your face when you find yourself stranded in the suburbs with no means of transportation but your legs (Mother, son and daughter having taken all three of the family cars and wedged them into an impenetrable traffic jam downtown).

Victoria's bus system is just now in the process of shrinking away to nothing, like Alice in Wonderland after she had swigged the bottle of dwarf syrup.

Victoria's bus service, like the rest of the B.C. Electric network, is now publicly owned, but it continues to behave like a private transit system run for private profit.

* * *

This point can certainly be argued, but I don't believe that a transit system should be compelled to make money, or to break even.

After all, we don't demand that all our roads and bridges return a profit. A bus is only a long mechanized bridge that stretches across land. It exists to serve the community—to carry people from one point to another.

Private cars also do this job, but they do it far more wastefully. When private cars reach a certain concentration, downtown traffic and retail business are frozen into immobility.

The bus line is an agency for clearing the congestion of downtown streets. It is also an instrument for building up the town, in the direction that wise planning demands that it should go.

Where there is a convenient bus system, people will build houses and stores.

The indirect returns from a bus service—the dollars that come back by a roundabout route—may far outweigh the petty savings that are made by cutting down the service.

Among these indirect returns could be a more prosperous city and therefore bigger tax totals; also a less congested city.

The best way to cure a sick transportation system, surely, is not to starve the poor thing, but feed it more money.

Then it has a chance to grow up big and strong.

Trying Too Hard Can Bring Fatigue

This is the second in a series of two articles.

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Always tired — crabby and ornery to those we love—constantly sorry for it, but unable to control it—worried, self-critical, guilty about it—yet in good physical health.

That's the picture so lucidly described for us in yesterday's letter. But the question remains: What to do about it?

It's easy to say we should stand off and look at ourselves as we really are. Unfortunately that's too simple. The letter in yesterday's column was from a reader who could do exactly that—yet didn't know what to do about it.

REAL ANSWER

The real answer starts with knowing that there's a difference between intelligence and emotions. A person of moderate or even low intelligence who has found a satisfactory niche in life can be (and often is) a satisfied, happy individual. He feels reasonably useful. He feels reasonably at ease. He likes people and is content that people like him. He has no urge to be rich (aside from the usual daydreams we all have). He may not have any brilliant thoughts but he's a satisfied person.

SOARING MIND

Rarely does the person with a vivid imagination and a soaring mind achieve this contentment. There are too many things in the world that need improving! Perhaps a million years from now the vigorous minds may find contentment and satisfaction with things the way they are—but I doubt it.

It's too much to expect a drug or a medication to correct all this. And I think it's too much to expect of a psychiatrist to ask him to correct it all.

LOGICAL COURSE

The one logical and effective course is to find some way to get the person himself (or herself) to recognize the obvious.

We must, in such cases, see in ourselves the difference between intelligence and emotions. We must find some way to see that what we think we ought to do is sometimes quite different from what we can do. The big frog in a small puddle is both useful and happy if he is content to do a good job in his own puddle.

MORE USEFUL

I think it's vastly more important, and more useful, for all of us to forget entirely about the size of the puddle we happen to be in, and just try, within moderate dimensions, to do a pretty acceptable job where we are.

That's the foundation for happiness. It doesn't mean stagnation. Being human, we all have to keep trying. But we don't have to try too hard. Trying hard gives us a normal weariness so we can sleep at night; trying too hard brings the fatigue that leaves us tired, tense, ornery the next morning.

THIS IS ANSWER

This is the answer for so many of us. And I hate to confess how many times I've had to remind myself of it. Still, it works!

Learn German in Germany Victoria Student's Solution

By TED SHACKLEFORD

A Victoria University student who had trouble with his German course has solved his problem.

Ted Truesman, 967 Island Highway, returned to Victoria this week after 11 months working in West Germany. Now speaking German like a German, he plans to return to Victoria University to complete his studies.

But he also plans to return to Germany as soon as he can.

"The Germans accepted me right away," he said yesterday. "They are wonderful people. They are the most friendly people I have met in my life."

"I picked Kassel because maps show it to be about in the middle of the country. I'd never heard of it before, but I guessed that if there were different German dialects, the dialect in Kassel would be an average."

Unable to find accommodation in Kassel, he went on to Bonn, where he found work, first as a ditch digger and then in a munitions factory.

Some of his impressions:

The standard of living is "quite a bit lower" than in Canada. Accommodation took 25 per cent of his wages.

Food is cheaper but wages are lower. Monthly wage for 30 to 35 hours work a week was some 500 marks, about $125.

Germans feel Russian soldiers are the best fighters and United States troops the poorest.

German girls are pretty . . . and friendly.

Russians are hated by the Germans.

Both Russia and the United States are afraid to compromise over Berlin in case they "lose face."

of this Soviet behavior now seems apparent: The Soviet government wished to abandon serious negotiations in order to free its hand to resume nuclear testing."

Kennedy declared the Soviet announcement of plans for testing superbombs up to the size of 100,000,000 tons are threats which the Soviets "must know cannot intimidate the rest of the world."

The United States, however, continues to believe in the importance of an agreement to end nuclear weapons tests, the president said.

U.S. TO DECIDE

He then declared that the Soviet decision to go ahead with testing now "leaves the United States under the necessity of deciding what its own national interests require."

"Under these circumstances," Kennedy concluded, "Ambassador Arthur Dean is being recalled immediately from Geneva."

A SURPRISE

The Soviet announcement appeared to come as a surprise to Washington officials. A common opinion had been that the Russians were holding off on tests and continuing at the lengthy Geneva talks in order to keep the United States from resuming tests.

PLANS REJECTED

In recent months, U.S. authorities had picked up some information that Russian military men and scientists were becoming increasingly eager to resume tests.

The Soviets also began to show disinterest in concluding a treaty. They called for lumping the test ban question into general disarmament talks and rejected revised Western proposals for a pact solely against testing.

TALK WITH NIKITA

John J. McCloy, U.S. disarmament administrator, talked to Khrushchev late last month while Khrushchev was vacationing along the Black Sea.

McCloy reported afterward that Khrushchev, among other things, said "that his scientists and military people told him that they could develop a 100-megaton bomb and that he did have the rocket that could lift it."

'Further Evidence Of World Madness'

Russia's decision to resume testing nuclear weapnos is "further evidence of the madness afflicting the entire world."

So says Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and former head of the Canadian committee for control of radiation hazards.

The Soviet decision, Dr. Keenleyside said in a Victoria interview last night, "makes it more urgent than ever that we do what we can—individually and collectively—to bring pressure on the only two governments that count for a halt to these tests.

"Surely it is imperative that we find the basis for some agreement, and the way out of this terrible danger."

Reds Boast of Rockets

France did not stop its experiments with nuclear weapons.

"The blast wave of French nuclear tests has reached Geneva, actually sweeping away from the table of negotiations the proposals aimed at putting an end to the nuclear weapons tests once and for all."

The Soviet news agency Tass said the new "super-powerful nuclear bombs" can be delivered by powerful rockets similar to those which sent Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov orbiting the earth as spacemen.

These rockets, Tass said, can "deliver such nuclear bombs to any point on the globe from which an attack on the Soviet Union or other socialist countries could be launched."

"The policy of the leading NATO powers — the United States, Britain, France and the Federal Republic of Germany—and of this aggressive bloc as a whole, leaves no other choice for the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet government has been compelled to take this step whose significance it fully appreciates, under the pressure of the international situation created by the imperialist countries."

The Soviet statement accused "the United States and its allies of fanning up the arms race to unprecedented scope, increasing the strength of armies and making the tension of the international situation red-hot."

Tass added:

"Things have reached a point where leading statesmen of the United States and its allies are resorting to threats to take to arms and to unleash war as a counter-measure to the conclusion of a peace treaty with the German democratic republic (Communist East Germany)."

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night it would be a tragic and retrograde step along the path towards preserving world peace if Russia resumes testing of nuclear weapons.

Informed of the Russian announcement Mr. Diefenbaker said he hoped the Moscow radio broadcast would not be confirmed by Russian action.

"I can only say it would be a retrograde and tragic step if testing is resumed," he said.

"It would mean a serious setback for the achievement of disarmament which is a necessary prelude to the preservation of peace."

External affairs department officials said the announcement precipitated a new crisis in world affairs and would open a whole new round of ticklish diplomacy between the East and West.

GENEVA (AP) — Western diplomats in Geneva were stunned early today by the announcement of the Soviet government.

David Ormsby-Gore, British chief negotiator to the three-power nuclear test ban talks, told reporters:

"The Soviet declaration comes as a shock and surprise to the Western delegations. The verdict of the world on this will no doubt be clear."

LONDON (AP)—A British foreign office spokesman said he was "astonished by such a retrograde step."

He added:

"It is ridiculous to put the blame for it on the Western powers."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The navy claimed a new low-level flight speed record yesterday for a Phantom II jet fighter which hit a speed of 902.769 miles an hour at tree-top level.

The jet was flown at an altitude ranging from 76 to 173 feet above the ground.

Besmirching B.C.

WITH lamentable exaggeration, that long-suspected journal The Oregonian has launched a new attack on the premier and the people of British Columbia over the expropriation of the B.C. Electric Company and the government's power plans. By no means alone in this endeavor, it tries to make Premier Bennett appear to be a dictator who has turned to socialism and the legislators and the people his compliant subjects and servants.

Indeed, The Oregonian goes so far as to refer to Mr. Bennett from the outset as "British Columbia's dictator-premier" who in driving ahead with Peace River plans and "entombment" of the Columbia treaty has met "scarcely a ripple of opposition from an apathetic B.C. public."

Fidel Castro, it says, "was no more dictatorial than Premier Bennett in the expropriation field, though to call it expropriation is a courtesy, for confiscation is a better word."

The premier and a "complaisant" legislature have destroyed the Columbia treaty, it asserts, and now "under Mr. Bennett's horny hand" the province is going ahead with the hydro project on the Peace, with the taxpayers taking all the risk—"the premier's private empire built on public funds."

The Oregonian cannot be blamed for being excited, because the area it serves is vitally affected by what British Columbia does or does not do in the field of power development, and especially in relation to the Columbia. Nor is its whole attack given over to half-truths; some of its arguments are based on facts, although couched in inflammatory language.

But The Oregonian has allowed its excitement and its concern to carry it overboard, and this in a paper of its reputation is to say the least regrettable.

The pity is greater, however, that through such exaggeration the name of British Columbia is being besmirched wherever articles of this sort are read.

The expropriation of the B.C. Electric and the government's power development plans are hardly likely to deter investors from placing their money in this province; indeed the reverse is to be anticipated.

But it is a shame that some of them may be persuaded by irresponsible journalism that this province with representative, conservative government is a Cuba under the heel of a horny-handed socialist dictator.

Back to Monopoly?

THE suggestion that TCA and CPA might merge is a strange turn of aerial events. It is only a few days since the air transport board widened the scope of CPA operations by giving it a slice of the Atlantic run. This followed the breach in TCA monopoly won by CPA a year ago when it secured a partial entry into the cross-Canada flight schedules.

The Crown-owned TCA claimed that encroachment by CPA was losing it substantial revenue, but CPA dissented and put such loss at a minor figure. Evidently the transport board thought there was room and to spare for both lines.

The prime minister had no comment on the reports that a merger might be afoot but admitted the government was reviewing its air policy and implied this was part of the study.

Taken together these two Canadian air lines, among the best to be found anywhere for service and safety, span much of the globe and in that sense they could be complementary. It has been CPA's strongest argument over the years however that monopoly was detrimental to the aerial progress of the country. A merger would return airline operation to a policy said to be outmoded by the growth of air traffic.

Would CPA take over the TCA or vice versa? One can scarcely imagine a queer combination of government and private enterprise. Does the reported merger hint a desire of the government to get out of the airline business? These are some of the questions posed by this talk that TCA and CPA might become one.

Mechanical Guess

AN ELECTRONIC brain, so called, predicts that one of the two baseballers aiming to break Babe Ruth's home run record will succeed but the other one won't. It has been fed the statistics to date and comes up with this answer.

For all its magic the tabulating machine merely works out its result on the basis of past and contemplated performance. It makes mechanical guesses according to the odds.

This takes no account of the human element. Either Mr. Maris or Mr. Mantle might try to cut a base too sharply some day next week and twist an ankle. Another bright day when they are expected to hit a home run they might have the stomach ache. Each could suffer a slump at the plate. The opposing pitchers, also, might rise to new heights and strike them out more often than anticipated. Varying nuances of play and personal quirks could affect their home run progress.

Either or both might in fact break Ruth's record, but it won't be because a tabulating machine said so.

Going Strong

PREMIER Bennett says the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry traffic is holding its own; in fact it is away ahead of last year when doubters thought only that like a new broom it would do its work well to begin with.

There may have been doubters but few critics of the government's entry into the ferry business. Not at least once the ferries began their now popular runs to and from the mainland. The Tsawwassen ferry is one of the best things the Bennett government has introduced; certainly in this area.

The premier reports that the revenue last month was 50 per cent higher than in July last year. That is a pleasing sign and there is no indication that the patronage will shrink. The two new ferry ships now abuilding will add to the facilities and should result in even heavier traffic.

The criterion of course comes in the balance sheet. The last figures on this aspect of the ferry operation claimed that a profit was being made. That is perhaps the most favorable sign of all. It is easy to operate a ferry system if it can be kept going while in the red; the test is to keep it in the black.

So far one understands the system is paying its way; and if so, long may this continue.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax. . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE conclusion that the Vancouver Lions chose the wrong name when they entered the lists of Canadian football is being borne forcibly upon this writer. Those couchant mountain images which look so resplendent on tourist folders are too inanimate for rampant representation on a football field. Football players of this ilk do lie down quite frequently in pursuit of their medium of athletic endeavor, it is part of the technique, but it is nevertheless the essence of their aim and purpose to be up and doing. They cannot afford, as their stone namesakes can, to be quiescent.

And alas the football Lions have not roared with the identifying vigor associated with this classic animal in its native haunts. They have not been lords of the jungle, in this instance the conference of Eskimos, Tigers, Roughriders, Stampeders and others of varied and more discerning nomenclature. After seven years, in fact, and the expenditure of several millions of dollars, they are more apt to be found in a prone position, holding up the others, than otherwise.

It must be the name, surely, casting its baleful influence from the coastal range. Time and again the earthly Lions of helmeted fame struggle against the fates, rousing themselves to supreme efforts and for a moment titillating their faithful supporters—and how faithful these are—with the thought that a championship team is, after all, possible. Then to date has come the denouement and the recumbency so steadfastly reflected by their mountain namesakes.

* * *

I do not take this to heart as I would were they the Victoria Lions, admittedly, albeit our mountain lions are seldom recumbent. They are so actively on the prowl, as you may remember, they send one of their kind to wake us in the early morn downtown. I confess also that I have to restrain as slight inherent bias against a game called football which is played mostly with the hands. Perhaps in the dim recesses of memory, too, is a recollection of the day in a prairie city when I foolishly allowed myself to be persuaded that my soccer feet might succour the fortunes of the local Canadian football agglomeration. I had not realized the disastrous effects of a 220-pound behemoth on a 145-pound stripling. It was, if I may say so, a chastening experience.

But when these Vancouver Lions of ours tackle the foreigners from Ontario, for instance—for then they become ours, so strong is the sectional as well as the national instincts of mankind—I recognize their virtue and quality even if I suffer disappointment when once more the scoreboard denies such thesis. In many respects they have been unlucky, no more so apparently than a few nights ago, although somehow the goddess of luck prefers to shine more often on the better teams, which seem thereby to make their own luck.

The worm turns, luck turns, one turns in bed, and by the law of compensation it is the turn of the Lions of whom we speak to turn the tables on their erstwhile superiors. But respectfully I suggest they should first turn their backs on those mountain lions of static persuasion and, obviously influence, I'm sure a change of name would do the trick.

Reporting From Ottawa

CANADIAN authorities see little chance that the present Berlin crisis will end in war. They'll breathe easier, though, when West German voters go to the polls on the third Sunday in September.

They subscribe to the theory that election politics and diplomacy don't mix well and that as long as the election campaigning is in progress, there's always a possibility that a party leader, making his pitch to the voters, may blunder into an inflammatory utterance that would make a dangerous addition to existing tensions.

* * *

DISPLAY COUNTER: Belief here, incidentally, is that Russia's Premier Khrushchev means business when he talks of drastic changes affecting Berlin's position. The former German capital has been a source of acute embarrassment to Russia and world Communism ever since the war's end.

The startling contrast between gay, prosperous West Berlin and the grim Soviet sector on the other side of the Brandenburg Gate is one of the two best answers to claims of the superiority of the Communist system. The other has been the flight of some 4,000,000 Germans from the Communist paradise of Eastern Germany, despite the stiff penalties imposed for flight. Why? Even the most ingenious Communist propagandists haven't been able to come up with a convincing answer.

* * *

HIRING AND FIRING: The federal government towers over other Canadian employers. Latest check shows that, as of April, the total staff of the Government of Canada (including its corporations and agencies) was a whopping 334,540. The total was down almost 1,500 from that for the previous month, but showed an increase of 318 compared with April, 1960. Earnings paid to this formidable force for April alone amounted to $119,151,000—higher by $6,802,000 than the total paid to staff a year earlier.

* * *

POWER: Eagerly awaited by Conservative party strategists and deep thinkers is a report from returning MPs of public reaction in British Columbia to Premier W. A. C. Bennett's takeover of B.C. Electric. Throughout the bitter wrangle with Premier Bennett over the Columbia power project, they've been counting the possible cost in terms of the next election. They can scarcely hope to duplicate their 1958 feat when they took 18 of the coast province's 22 seats.

But if, as is considered possible in Ottawa, Premier Bennett went too far too fast in picking up the holdings of investors in B.C. Electric, public reaction might limit their losses to marginal seats and strengthen the positions of External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Justice Minister E. D. Fulton—each a key member of the federal cabinet.

* * *

SECOND LOOK: The tendency in some quarters in Britain and the U.S. to write off British Guiana's Premier-designate Cheddi Jagan as a pro-Castro Communist has aroused misgivings in Ottawa. The feeling is widely held that premature judgments of this kind can do little good but may serve to move the bitter British Guiana nationalist to follow Castro's example and seek aid and comfort behind the Iron Curtain rather than on this side of it.

* * *

ECONOMY: Economic reports reaching the government indicate that the improvement in economic conditions, while significant, is still of only moderate proportions. Canadian production figures haven't climbed as steeply this summer as had been hoped though the economy is expected to benefit from the delayed action effects of increased U.S. economic activity.

Unemployment figures have been dropping steadily through the summer. But the latest report showed that the total number of Canadians out of work and looking for jobs was still slightly larger than that of a year ago.

The next two labor force survey reports, due in late September and October, are expected to determine the trend for the rest of this year. Despite the poor crops on the prairies, the government is hopeful that unemployment figures will continue to drop sharply, moving well below the 1960 level, and that the gains will be held into the fall and winter.

Getting Rich

By GREGORY CLARK

AT a country general store, where you find a sort of mercantile candor uncommon in cities, I asked for a certain item that I had long used in past years at my summer cottage.

"Oh," said the merchant, "that's been off the market for several years now."

"Several years?" I asked astonished. "Why, it seems only a year or two that I got some here."

"No, it must have been five or six years," said the merchant. "And no doubt you noticed some deterioration in the quality of the last few you bought."

"As a matter of fact, I did," I admitted.

"What happened was this," he said. "It was a small company that made them. When the owners grew old, they were persuaded to sell out to a bunch of promoters who formed a new limited company. As you recall, it was an extremely good and popular item. This new company just proceeded to milk it to death, cheapening and deteriorating it. By the time the public found out the fraud, the promoters had got back their capital and a good bit besides, no doubt. This is one of the ways of getting rich."

The New Canadians

From The Globe and Mail, Toronto

IMMIGRANTS are good for Canada, and Canada is good for immigrants. This is the general conclusion which can be drawn from an economic and social survey conducted by the department of immigration and citizenship.

The survey was limited to immigrants applying for citizenship in Toronto and Montreal and to British subjects applying for citizenship throughout Ontario and Quebec in 1959. The total number of applicants was 6,989. The results of the survey, therefore, may not be entirely conclusive, as the sample was small and conditions may vary in other parts of the country, but there is no reason to think that it is far from presenting an accurate national picture.

Given this slight reservation, it can be said that the survey discovered some encouraging—even surprising—facts about the quality of Canada's new citizens. The average level of education among the applicants for citizenship, for example, was slightly higher than that of the urban population of Ontario and Quebec. When apprenticeships, which are common in Europe but not in Canada, were taken into account as part of education, the newcomers had a considerably higher level of education than the natives. During their first year of residence in this country—presumably a period of adjustment and settling in—the applicants earned about one-third less than a comparable group of Canadians. But they rapidly made up the difference—increasing their earnings at what the survey calls a "phenomenal" rate—and by the last year of residence before applying for citizenship were drawing about the same incomes as Canadians.

Surprisingly, perhaps, the newcomers appear to have had little difficulty in finding and holding jobs. About 95 per cent found jobs within three months of landing, and they tended to stay with one employer much longer than the average Canadian. Whereas 55 per cent of the Canadian labor force changes jobs over a year, only 31 per cent of the applicants changed in a year.

If the newcomers served their employers well, they also did well for themselves. When they became citizens, almost three times as many of them were managers as had been in such positions in their countries of origin. About 5 per cent of the applicants had become employers, providing work for 3,070 persons — or about half the number of immigrants in the survey.

These facts and figures give the lie, once again, to the dangerous idea that immigrants create unemployment. They show that immigrants bring valuable skills and enterprise to help in the development of Canada.

Fun, Fact And Fiction

A jeweller's assistant, an absent-minded fellow, was being married. He was presenting the bride with the ring when he hesitated.

"With this ring," prompted the minister.

"With this ring," answered the bridegroom, "we give a written guarantee [illegible] the customer that the price will be refunded if it is not as represented."

Politics Laid Aside

By WILLIAM S. WHITE, from Washington

THIS one-industry town of Washington — politics being that one industry — might fairly be described as a chronically depressed area these days, so far as its ordinary business is concerned.

Not many are making much politics here. And even those who are making any politics are doing what in the old days of the alphabetical agencies was called "made work." They are working more or less for practice, more or less to keep their hands in, and in a very tentative way, like a man polishing a fishing rod from which he knows very well he will not actually throw a line into the water any time soon.

* * *

A harsh summer of foreign crises, Berlin of course being at the top of the list, has indefinitely adjourned politics as it is usually practised here. In this upside-down world, John F. Kennedy, the leading Democrat, has become simply John F. Kennedy, the president of the United States.

His White House callers often as not are solidly Republican types from big business and Wall Street rather than partisan Democrats. (Even one of those dreadful "Southern Democrats"—a man of the stamp, say, of Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, an outstanding congressional authority on military affairs—can be found in quite amiable conference with the president.)

No doubt the president still knows, in an absent-minded way, the current location of the Democratic National Committee. But his contact with that agency is practically nil—and so, actually, is his current interest in it.

What he is doing is not merely trying to get help from every quarter he can—thus the Wall Street and big business fellows. He is also getting advice from such men on a wide variety of matters ranging from where good administrative talent for the government can be found to business's ideas on economic problems.

The Republican leader of the Senate, Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, is often found to be helping rather than hampering the administration—on the big problems, that is. Senator Dirksen, indeed, sometimes seems about as vague about the existence of the Republican National Committee as Mr. Kennedy is about the Democratic group.

From his farm in Gettysburg, former President Eisenhower is doing no intruding act here. Nevertheless, he is constantly on call for advice and is by no means out of the picture here.

* * *

The friendly bipartisan relationship which President Kennedy has struck up with General Eisenhower is being emulated by others within the administration. In his fight for some federal school aid, Abraham Ribicoff, the secretary of health, education and welfare, is finding rather more reliable allies among conservatives, some of them Republicans, than from the highly liberal school lobbies.

Ribicoff, indeed, has been moved publicly to warn those who love school aid all too much that their excessive zeal is doing more harm than good. Characteristically, they want all or nothing. Characteristically, he wants what can be had.

Now all this does not mean that politicians have ceased to be politicians. It only means that the best of them, in both parties, recognize that this is no time for politics-as-usual and that this time will not return until the country has safely passed the present dangers from abroad.

And if this situation is hard on Washington's one industry for the moment, that industry can take comfort. For, obviously, the best politics right now is no politics at all. There will be plenty of time later, if under providence we escape war or appeasement, to get back to politics-as-usual. And those politicians who are able to return then to politics with records of having behaved responsibly in this hour of peril will be all the stronger in the field of contention.

A Mob Jeered

By CASSANDRA
From London

JOHN HEAGNEY shouted to the crowd: "Let's charge him. He's only another copper."

Then "a police officer disappeared from sight under a crowd screaming lunatics."

Constable George Bundle had his spine fractured and suffered serious kidney injuries.

Constable Ralph Taylor had his skull fractured. A cafe was wrecked and burned. Windows were smashed and bottles and stones thrown. Hundreds of pounds' worth of damage was done, and people had to hide in cupboards.

This was Middlesbrough, where scores of louts, many of them drunk, beat up the town—and the cops.

One Woman

At Luton, a mob of 300 jeered as two policemen struggled with vicious hooligans. One woman — and nobody else — tried to go to their rescue, but the outnumbered police shouted to her to keep clear in case she was seriously injured.

The magistrates in both Middlesbrough and Luton said it was a disgraceful state of affairs.

That's putting it mildly.

To watch our police being savaged and mauled with onlookers rejoicing in their grievous injuries is absolutely abominable.

What's come over the average British crowd, usually so concerned with fair play?

At Middlesbrough sixteen men, most of them quite young, were sentenced to between one and six months' imprisonment for their part in the riots.

Limited Powers

After the sentences, one drunken brute reeled down the street, followed by a crowd of children, shouting: "You've given 'em six months down at the Town Hall this morning—you could give me twelve."

At Luton one of the bullies got a year for grievous bodily harm while the young twenty-one-year-old thug who was helping him to attack the police received nine months.

The magistrates are powerless to inflict sentences proportionate to these offences. Six months is the maximum for summary offences and twelve months for indictable offences tried summarily.

In September, 1958, violent race riots broke out in Notting Hall. Nine youths were sentenced to four years each by Mr. Justice Salmon.

Clearly and unmistakably he announced the penal tariff for blackguards armed with iron bars who set out to terrorize their fellow citizens.

There have been no comparable riots since.

Only the higher courts can adequately deal with the mobsters.

The Cherubim

I do no tknow whether the Divine authorities in Paradise ever permit themselves a smile.

I suspect they do, and it may well be that Dr. Billy Graham's request to President Kennedy to declare a National Day of Prayer over Berlin may cause a gentle chuckle among the Cherubim and Seraphim.

During the last war when things were very black, we had days of national prayer, asking for what amounted to heavenly military action against the enemy. Slit-trench Christianity, as it was called, was a very real thing at the time, but it vanished like a dawn mist when matters improved on the battlefronts.

It might be a better thing to have National Days of Prayer in times when we've never had it so good as well as in times when we've never had it so bad.

Special Genius

Aneurin Bevan used to marvel that in Britain, an island founded on coal and surrounded by seas teeming with fish, fuel should be so costly and herring, haddock, hake, cod, plaice and sole should be so dear.

I can add to his list.

In an island where it belts with rain every other day and is frequently drowned with floods in winter, it is remarkable that water should be so scarce.

When we get a fortnight's dry weather, the authorities clamp down on the use of garden hoses straight away.

Now we are told that in 1980 East Anglia will be facing a water shortage of 30,000,000 gallons a day.

It seems to me to require a very special sort of genius to create these scarcities in our coal black, fishy, damp paradise.

With the Classics

The trumpet's loud clangor
Excites us to arms,
With shrill notes of anger
And mortal alarms.
The double double double beat
Of the thundering drum
Cries—Hark! the foes come!
Charge, charge, 'tis too late to retreat.'

Berlin

With all due respect for the academic and scientific attainments of Dr. Hugh Keenleyside and with proper regard for the political achievements of those who publicly agreed with or dissented from his views . . . there are two outstanding aspects of the situation which must be kept constantly in mind.

The first is that West Berlin, the symbol of "free enterprise," is acting like a magnet not only on a Communist satellite like East Germany, but on the entire economy of Europe which is gravitating into the Common Market.

The second is the United States naval base of Guantanamo in Cuba which casts the shadow of Russia over the Panama Canal.

Scientifically, no doubt, both Berlin and Guantanamo could be fed into a computer and spewed therefrom as negotiable securities. Academically, neither the one nor the other is of significance in a properly planned and mechanically adjusted civilization. Politically, both are subject to the expediencies of power exercised for the greatest good of the greatest number of voters. Morally, both Berlin and Guantanamo are influenced by principles on which a nation's word and worth are judged. Both are obligations assumed under conditions which while subject to change cannot be calmly jettisoned as inconvenient or dangerous whenever the threat of hell is used to form a heaven of illusion or ignorance. A deterrent is of primary necessity in a world where obligations and responsibilities are the victims of a decadent philosophy.

Berlin . . . is to Premier Khrushchev like a red rag to a bull in the Common Market. Castro, with the vocal chords and ambitions of Hitler, is an excellent tool in the hands of Mr. A. Mikoyan, a capitalist by experience and Communist by expediency, whose objective is to divert trade to Russia. While communism withers in the desert of its own implications the Common Market is beginning to flourish in the soil of common-sense fertilized by free enterprise.

Blow at Economy

In view of Dr. Hugh Keenleyside's statement in the press I consider it is aimed at breaking the economy of the Western free nations as West Berlin is part of West Germany.

To quote Dr. Adenauer in the New York Times, April 1956: "It is our objective to enable all our citizens to benefit from the progress of our economy, thus creating a sound social structure for the entire nation," setting free individual initiative and promoting a sense of responsibility each toward all."

It is encouraging to note that no longer does "all" refer solely to one's own country, but to the entire community of free nations. . . . The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it. "K" has said "through trade we will destroy all those nations who are opposed to us."

Centenary

A squeamish squaw from Squamish
Ill and wracked with bitter pain,
Ate some Saanich Spanish spinach
And soon got well again.

I hope the poets of B.C. will forgive me for encroaching on their territory in an endeavor to inject a lighter spirit into the gloom and acerbity that always seems to descend on greater Victorians whenever they plan a celebration.

The present hassle is over projects for next year's Victoria Centennial. I should like to offer one suggestion —with ramifications: Dig the canal from Portage Inlet to Thetis Cove and run boat excursions from downtown through the reversible falls at the Gorge, to where?— to the one-mile racetrack and all year playground across Esquimalt harbor at Colwood. Of course it would be necessary to get the various agricultural and racing interests together, use Sandown for a training track and move Saanichton Fair to Colwood. Saanichton fairground could be made into a reserve for old-time "Sprawlers." Councillor Casey once said that Seattle was built by sprawlers so I am sure that Seattle old-timers who come up from Seattle's celebrations would be anxious to look over this replica of their early days.

Investment Men Hail New BCE Bond Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Investment men expressed satisfaction Wednesday with Premier Bennett's announcement that B.C. Electric preferred shareholders will get a choice in the type of bonds they are to receive following expropriation of the utility firm.

The premier said Tuesday new bonds still to be issued will have full government backing and provision is made to allow the shareholders to accept either perpetual securities (the only offer at first) or 25-year bonds bearing interest at a rate equal to the dividend rate of the stock.

Dick Broad, president of the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association, said:

"We are very grateful that the premier has amended his original formula. This is a step in the right direction and will help restore investors' confidence in this province."

Doctor Favors Some Abortions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Relaxation of federal laws against abortion for the sick and for rape victims was urged Wednesday by an official of the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. E. C. McCoy, acting executive director, said the law should be modified to allow legal therapeutic abortions for broad physical and mental reasons and not only when the life of the mother is at stake.

Legal abortions should be permitted for rape victims where the charge has been proved in court, he said.

Dr. McCoy suggested that special committees composed of leading lawyers, clergymen and doctors should be established across Canada to hear applications from doctors who believe their patients come within these categories.

"There are many cases where doctors are convinced that women should be aborted," he said, "but they are powerless to act because of the law."

Meanwhile, MPs for the Vancouver area—CCFers and Tories—called for a federal investigation to determine whether amendments to the Criminal Code are necessary.

Talk It Over Canada, U.S. Lawyers Told

WINNIPEG (CP) — A New York lawyer Wednesday suggested to the Canadian Bar Association periodic meetings of Canadian and U.S. judges and lawyers to help solve common problems.

Whitney North Seymour, past president of the American Bar Association, urged talks on pre-trial techniques to end the "flood of accident cases" and methods of shortening long trials without sacrificing justice.

Falls to Death

TORONTO (CP)—John McInnes, 45, of Toronto, plunged eight storeys to his death Tuesday at the rear of an office building when a window blind he was repairing fell, knocking him off balance and out the window.

German Reds to Get Wheat?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Another wheat sale to Communist China, with the grain understood to be destined for East Germany, was announced Wednesday by the federal government.

The contract, for 6,000,000 bushels worth an estimated $10,000,000, was the second to be negotiated under a 2½-year, $362,000,000 pact signed by Canada and Communist China last spring.

The shipment will mark the second time in six months the Peking regime has stepped into Moscow's bailiwick with a wheat gift for a European Communist nation.

Last April, before the long-term agreement was signed, Peking purchased 2,200,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and diverted the shipment to Albania in what was said to have been a ploy in a power struggle with Moscow.

Agriculture Minister Hamilton disclosed last month he knew all along the April shipment was destined for Albania even though Red China was facing famine.

But in making yesterday's announcement, he made no mention of East Germany.

However, Winnipeg grain circles said the wheat will be shipped to food-short East Germany.

Hamilton said the grain will move out of St. Lawrence River ports this month and next—an indication that it is headed for Europe rather than the Orient.

A Communist Chinese trade mission will tour Canada next month in search of dollars with which to help pay for the grain. It is expected to spend six to eight weeks showing its wares to potential buyers.

Quick Returns Hoped

By HARRY YOUNG

Colonist Business Editor

Belief that the flow of oil through the new B.C. oil pipeline being built by Western Pacific Oil Products Line will exceed initial expectation was voiced in Victoria this week by a spokesman for the company.

Lloyd Turner, vice-president of Westcoast Transmission, sponsors of the new oil line, said the oil development in north B.C. had expanded tremendously since a market for oil had been guaranteed by construction of the new line.

Mr. Turner had just returned from a trip to the oil area. He reported that the line from Taylor to Kamloops was about one-third complete and was running 45 miles ahead of schedule. A start has been made on the tank farm where the line will join up with Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line near Kamloops.

"With no pro-rating of oil wells in British Columbia, producers are thrilled with the prospects of getting a quick return on their drilling expenditures," said Mr. Turner.

Mr. Turner said the leading oil companies in the B.C. oil fields were drilling development wells as fast as they could to tap the new market.

"The great advantage of the oil producer in B.C. is that he is not limited as to the amount of oil he can take out each day as he is in Alberta," said Mr. Turner. "The result is that drilling costs can be recovered quickly."

Early estimates that Western Pacific pipe line might not handle more than 15,000 barrels a day at the start now appear in Mr. Turner's view to be unduly pessimistic.

The new gathering line to the Blueberry field being built by Sun Oil Company will handle up to 25,000 barrels a day alone, and it is only one of several pipes which will flow into the trunk line.

The pipeline from Fort St. John to Kamloops is to be completed this fall.

* * *

Directors of Bathurst Power and Paper Company are proposing that the company's "B" stock should be split two for one and renamed common shares.

Also proposed is a change in the standing of the existing "A" shares, giving them a cumulative preferred dividend of $2.50 a year in place of the present $2 a year rate with its participating privileges. The withdrawal of participating privileges would be replaced with a right to convert at any time into common shares at the rate of two for one.

* * *

BRALORNE EXPLORES

Bralorne Pioneer Mines Limited in an interim report to shareholders announces it has taken up exploration options on two B.C. properties.

One is a molybdenum-gold prospect 50 miles north of Kamloops on which the prior owners recently completed an encouraging diamond drilling program.

The other option is on the Rubymac claims in the Phoenix area of B.C. where bulldozing has exposed copper showings.

U.S. OWNERS SELL

Two western Canadian lumber product and building supply firms that have been privately owned by Americans for more than 55 years, are being amalgamated into a new Canadian publicly-owned company.

They are Revelstoke Sawmill Company Limited and Atlas Lumber Company and have been merged into the Revelstoke Building Materials Ltd.

Capital of $9,500,000 is to be raised shortly in the Canadian market through the sale of debentures, preference shares and common shares. Some common shares will be offered in unit form along with the debentures and preference shares, and part of the common stock will also be sold separately.

* * *

DEEPER IN DEBT

Canadians are deeper in debt to finance companies and others on time payments than they were a year ago. The outstanding loans of $3,196,000,000 at the end of June are up 6.9 per cent from a year ago.

* * *

NOT FAIR PLAY

Sir Graham Hayman, chairman of the Distillers Co. Ltd. of Britain, makers of many of the most popular brands of Scotch whisky, wants the U.S. to lower its rate of duty.

Scotch is sold to the U.S. at 86 proof but the customs people apply the rate on an assumed basis of 100 proof, whereas American whiskies pay the duty only on the actual alcohol content.

He said this was discrimination.

* * *

DIVIDEND FORESEEN

Alberta Gas Trunk Lines states it is studying the advisability of making an initial dividend payment on its common stock. An official of the company said a modest payment might be made in 1962.

In the first half of 1961, Alberta Gas Trunk moved 113,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas against 61,000,000,000 cubic feet in the similar period of 1960. Capital expenditures, together with the extent of the revenue accruing from the opening of the Southern-Alberta-California pipeline later this year, would determine the amount of the 1961 net profit of the company.

Defiant Brazilian Leader's Trip Could Plunge Nation Into Civil War

Goulart Sets Off Home Despite Open Warning

NEW YORK (UPI)—Leftist Brazilian Vice-President Joao (Jango) Goulart, defying open warnings from his nation's senior military leaders, took off for home last night to declare himself president, saying: "The situation looks good."

Goulart's flying trip back to Brazil threatened to plunge his tense nation into civil war.

Before taking off the vice-president—who had been on a trip to the Far East—told newsmen at Idlewild that he had made numerous telephone calls to Brazil to confer with legislators since his arrival here earlier yesterday afternoon.

'FOR THE BEST'

"The situation looks good," he said. "All the hopes are for the best."

Just how, when and where Goulart planned to re-enter Brazil remained a mystery.

He told newsmen he would make his decision when his flight landed in Panama City today. It was not known if Goulart planned to stopp off in Panama or go on with the fight.

'NOT EXPECTED'

Argentine government sources said in Buenos Aires last night Goulart was not expected to come there. The report was circulated following a meeting of the military cabinet.

Lined up solidly against Goulart were Brazil's three military cabinet ministers, including War Minister Odyllo Denys. They already had warned him that his return to assume the presidency would be "absolutely inconvenient."

'FORCE IF NECESSARY'

Sen. Barros Carvalho, head of Goulart's Labor party who was travelling with the vice-president, said Goulart would hold his right to the presidency even if the use of force was necessary.

In Brazil, the powerful Third Army, in control of the three southernmost states, was on the brink of a civil war against forces directed by the war minister.

Hard Blow to Kennedy Plan If Leftists Win in Brazil

By WILLIAM HENLEY
Telegram News Service

The unanswered question from Brazil today is what forced President Janos Quadros to resign.

It is apparent the right wing with the backing of the army is the group which forced the resignation of the president but the issue is obscure. Quadros gave no other reason than obstruction by imperialist and reactionary sources in the country.

GRAVE CRISIS

If he intended to accede to right-wing pressure, he was at least aware that the constitution demanded the vice-president take over from him—and the vice-president is an extreme leftist, Joao Goulart.

The position Quadros put the right wing in has created a grave crisis. Defence Minister

Situation Confusing

General Odyllo Denys has ordered the army and navy into action and threaten to arrest Goulart — and Goulart's left-wing forces threatening violence to any who stand in Goulart's way.

INTERFERENCE?

If Goulart's side wins out it will be a hard blow for President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress against the Communists in South America.

The mention of "imperialist" forces by Quadros raises the question of U.S. interference, if not the state department at least the interference of U.S. citizens with companies in Brazil.

In line with this, the first signs of major trouble developing for Quadros came from the U.S.-backed inter-American conference in Uruguay where Quadros, to U.S. surprise, took an extremely friendly attitude to Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's minister of industry.

Guevara's acceptance by the conference and the friendship and consideration shown him whacked enormous holes in Kennedy's Alliance plans to drive the Communist influence out of South America.

CUBAN HONORED

Quadros emerged as the man responsible for the Cuban progress which ended the possibility of any collective inter-American action against Cuba.

Furthermore, Quadros then invited Guevara to Brazilia, the country's capital, where he presented him with Brazil's highest decoration, the Grand Cross of the Order of Cruzeire.

FINAL STRAW

This was a final straw for some of the countries rightists.

One prominent politican, Carlos Lacerda, the man who engineered Quadros' nomination for the Brazilian presidency, threatened to resign as governor of Guanabara state in protest of Quadros action.

PAPERS OBJECT

A number of important Brazilian newspapers voiced their objections to the cheapening of the award.

Then, within a few days of the affair of the medal and the end of the inter-American conference Quadros unexpectedly resigned.

It is not clear yet whether it is the army that has seized power and is trying to give an appearance of government backing, or if it is the right wing with army backing.

No Pay Hike Until Union Approves

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Lone Star Steel Company wants to give its 3,300 workers a premature pay raise as a reward, but has to get union approval to do it.

The workers, members of the United Steelworkers of America, will vote Thursday on whether to accept the pay raise.

'A REWARD'

E. B. Germany, president of the company, offered the union men an average of eight cents an hour beginning Sept. 1. This is the increase due under a new contract which goes into effect Oct. 1.

However, Germany said Lone Star made the offer to put the pay raise into effect one month early as "a reward for very good relations with the employees."

MUST BE APPROVED

Under labor law, however, any pay increase not called for in a contract must be approved by the recognized bargaining unit.

The company said it is also giving non-bargaining employees a three-to-five per cent pay raise effective on the same date.

Lawyers Get Invitation To Study Delinquency

WINNIPEG—Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton invited the Canadian Bar Association to participate in a study of juvenile delinquency.

Fulton, who announced six weeks ago such a study would be made, told a meeting of the association that he hoped soon to be able to indicate the lines along which the study might follow.

"When this time comes," he said, "I hope the proposals therein will receive your careful attention and that a number of you will deem it a challenge and a responsibility to help lead the way."

Hold Prices Kennedy Tells Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy yesterday urged U.S. steel companies not to raise prices to meet an Oct. 1 wage increase. He said such action might trigger a wave of price increases.

Kennedy told a news conference his economic experts had advised him the steel mills could hold the price line, pay the higher wages and still make a good profit.

The president also expressed hope that any settlement of the auto workers' contract dispute would not be followed by an increase in car prices.

Amulets Soothe Away All Those Animosities

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Looking for something for the man (or woman) who has absolutely everything?

Then try a "tranquilizing amulet." Movie stars and others have started the fad.

Just what is it?

"Well," said a spokesman for Alfred Dunhill of Beverly Hills, which sells the amulets like hot-cakes, "it's simply a touchstone."

It comes in either white, green or brown onyx. It's about an inch wide and 2½ inches long. In short, it's a glorified little rock.

And what do you do with it?

You hold it in your hand and squeeze it. That's all. Just squeeze it.

"Sort of like Capt. Queeg did in 'The Caine Mutiny'," said the Dunhill spokesman.

"It's very relaxing," he added. "Apparently the Chinese used touchstones as tranquilizers for many years."

Price for this relaxation is $5 per amulet.

Idea, when you get home with the stone, is to sit back, think of nothing else and squeeze until all animosities and tensions are gone.

"They're very good for executives," said the spokesman.

Russia Lacks Manpower

Reason Behind Freeze On Demobilization

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—An acute manpower shortage among Soviet youth of draft age was responsible in part for Russia's decision to freeze its servicemen in uniform until a Germany peace treaty is signed, observers said yesterday.

The decree announced Tuesday night postponing the discharge of thousands of Soviet servicemen is not likely to make any substantial difference in the size of the Soviet armed forces according to observers.

The Soviet Union, they said, is suffering from the "demographic disaster" of the Second World War. Demographers—population experts—point out that the wartime casualties and hardships created a serious population gap that is felt severely in the lower ranks of the Soviet armed forces.

MORTALITY HIGH

According to the demographers the Soviets during the war mobilized 25,000,000 men who were away from their families for five years.

Thus, between 1940 and 1945, the birth rate was the lowest in recent history. Simultaneously, the child mortality rate was the highest, because of occupation, famine and disease.

The 1959 census showed that the Soviet Union had 20,000,000 more women than men, largely because wartime casualties were mainly among men.

From 1949 to 1951, the "demographic disaster" hit the elementary schools. The Soviets found it difficult to fill first grade classrooms.

SHORTAGE FELT

Between 1959 and 1961 the shortage was felt in universities. Almost every student qualified to apply was admitted.

The normal draft age is 18. Soviet youths can sign up for two or three years in the infantry, four years in the air force or five years in the navy.

Labor Organization Rejects Affiliation

MONCTON (CP)—The New Brunswick Federation of Labor Wednesday voted to adopt Canadian Labor Congress policy "and endorse the principles and policies of the New Democratic Party without direct affiliation."

Recovering

Expatriate American poet Ezra Pound is recovering from a severe cardiac collapse in Merano, Italy. He is 74.

Satellite Success

Gold Capsule in Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The United States halted a two-shot "losing streak" yesterday by firing the 28th Discoverer into orbit.

The 81-foot Discoverer hurtled aloft in a heavy fog with a gold plated capsule filled with instruments the air force hopes to recover from space.

The air force announced two hours after the launch that the 25-foot satellite had entered a polar orbit.

Officers said the recovery—near Hawaii—could be tried in one to four days.

Meter Reader Confesses He Guessed for 7 Years

EAST KESTEVEN, England (AP)—Charlie Green, a waterworks meter reader for 15 years, admitted yesterday that for the last seven years he never read a meter.

"I guessed," he confessed.

"I had about 100 miles of mains to look after," he explained, "but the more than 100 meters I was supposed to look after were in the oddest places.

IN PIGSTIES

"Some were in pigsties, others under haystacks. One was even in a field with a big bull. Many meant a dirty job of digging down to them. They were not like light and gas meters—easy to get at."

Charlie went on:

"So about seven years ago I gave up trying. I began keeping my records from the previous year's averages. My mistake was that I under estimated and charged too little."

HE RESIGNED

Several farmers said Charlie charged too much.

When they complained the rural council checked their meter reader.

Charlie quickly resigned.

He now has a job at a poultry packing station.

"They've made me foreman," Charlie said.

A sign in a bar in London's Soho district says: "If you drink to forget, please pay before you drink."

Husband Awarded Coffee Pot

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Stanley Hardman, 33, was granted a divorce after complaining that her police sergeant husband bawled her out if she didn't bring him coffee right away when he rang a bell.

Judge W. W. Jacka awarded her the family house, $1 a month alimony and $50 a month each for three children.

Hardman was awarded one frying pan, one saucepan and the coffee pot.

Alpine Drama Ends

Rescuers Save 81 Tourists

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—One of the great dramas in the history of mountain rescues ended yesterday when the last of 81 shivering tourists were removed from tiny cable cars dangling high in the French Alps.

Mountaineers who worked all night pulled the remaining tourists to safety 18 hours after a French air force jet sliced through an 11,000-foot high cable that moves the cars from the Aiguille du Midi Peak near Mont Blanc to Helbronner Point on the Italian side.

RETURNS SAFELY

The jet returned safely to a field at Luxeuil, France, 140 miles to the north, but three of the cars plunged 320 feet and crashed on a glacier below.

The French government largely absolved the pilot. It said he was flying a "minutely prepared low-altitude training mission over an obligatory route."

Four Germans and two Italians died on the ice and rocks.

The freak accident left the passengers suspended precariously from the aerial railway's main cable over the three-mile wide valley. But the jet had cut the operating line.

NEW THING

Authorities said that if the plane, which lost a fuel tank, had severed the main cable everyone riding the tiny aluminum cabins would have fallen to certain death below.

All Peaceful As Atlanta Integrates

ATLANTA (UPI) — This deep-south city calmly set aside its 100-year-old tradition of public school segregation yesterday and accepted nine Negro students into four of its previous all white high schools.

In contrast to the disorders that accompanied school desegregation in New Orleans and Little Rock, there was not so much as an abusive shout when the nine students showed up for classes at the Atlanta schools.

The historic break with the tradition of segregated public schools in Georgia came just seven years, three months and 15 days after the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

This leaves Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina as the only remaining "hard core" states where no school integration has taken place.

Cave-In Kills 3 Tots

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Three children were suffocated in a sand bank cave-in Wednesday while playing in a vacant lot in a northside Spokane neighborhood. The victims were Debbie Orth, 6; Larry Burns, 6, and Joyce Rizzuto, 4.

U.S. Incident

Africans Allege Envoy Assaulted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The 29 African members of the United Nations said yesterday they will demand "complete satisfaction" in an incident between a Guinean diplomat and a New York policeman last Saturday.

'MANHANDLED'

The African group said the case of Michael Collet, deputy permanent representative of Guinea, was the most serious in a series of "recurrent incidents" involving African diplomats.

The Guinean mission charged Collet was manhandled by New York police following a traffic accident.

SCUFFLE ALLEGED

Mayor Robert Wagner said that a police investigation has exonerated members of the police force in the incident. The police version was that Collet pushed and shoved a taxi driver and then scuffled with a patrolman who arrived at the scene.

But the African delegates said they would consult with the 46-nation Afro-Asian group to plan further action in the case.

'DEEP CONCERN'

They did not indicate what action might be taken, but a communique said:

"The group expressed deep concern at the gravity of the outrages against the tranquillity, safety and dignity of African diplomats.

"It intends to continue its action . . . until complete satisfaction is obtained on the basis of the provisions of the charter of the United Nations."

IN COLLISION

Ambassador Telli Diallo, chairman of the Guinea delegation, repeated his account of the incident. He said a limousine driven by Collet was involved in a collision with a taxi in the Harlem district and that Collet charged he was beaten by the taxi driver and by police who intervened.

Big Fellows Hooked on Variety of Lures

Variety—in fish caught and in the lures that they're taking—is the keynote in Vancouver Island fishing as the salmon season approaches its September climax.

Up at Qualicum Beach, they're catching coho, springs and bluebacks on bucktail flies, plugs, spoons and Strip-Teasers while down on the Victoria waterfront springs, humpbacks and coho are being taken mainly on herring-bait hookups.

In Saanich Inlet the bait fishermen are continuing to take their share of good-sized springs along with a fair sprinkling of coho. In the Alberni Inlet, the big chrome Alaskan plug is knocking off the Tyee with regularity, just in time for Tyee week, which started last Sunday and extends to next Monday.

Fresh water anglers, however, are thinking of selling their gear. Water in most Island rivers is so low you can wade cross them and lakes are suffering from the warm weather.

Here's who's catching them, and how, in the latest King Fisherman entry list:

$40,000 a Year for Shrum

Dr. Gordon Shrum will become B.C.'s highest-paid government employee with a salary of $40,000 a year as chairman and president of the new Crown-owned B.C. Electric Co., Premier Bennett announced yesterday.

* * *

. . . highest paid

Former provincial finance minister Einar Gunderson, who will become vice-president for finance, and former BCE executive William C. Mearns, named vice-president of development, each will be paid $37,500 a year.

Frank M. Ross, who ended his term as B.C. lieutenant-governor last year and Vancouver lawyer Arthur Fouks will each be paid directors' fees of $2,500 while the other director, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, who will be deputy chairman, will be paid nothing. He already gets a ministerial salary of $17,500.

Premier Bennett also announced that former BCE president Dr. Harry Purdy, who is remaining with the company as vice-president of operations, is to receive $25,000 a year.

Dr. Shrum's salary is twice that paid to Premier Bennett and B.C. Power Commission chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside and more than Prime Minister Diefenbaker gets for running all Canada.

Even so, the salary is well under half of that paid to the former BCE chairman, the late Dal Grauer, who received close to $100,000 a year. BCE sources also indicated Dr. Purdy received about $60,000 when the company was privately owned.

Premier Bennett said his close friend Mr. Gunderson would no longer receive the lower salary he was paid as executive vice-president of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The $40,000 a year to be paid Dr. Shrum is not the highest salary ever paid a government employee. The late Gordon Sloan received $30,000 a year as the province's forestry adviser.

The salaries take effect Sept. 1.

Make U.S. Foot Bill Strategy of Premier

By PETER BRUTON

Premier Bennett hopes to force simultaneous development of both the Peace River and the Columbia River power schemes by making the U.S. pay enough money to cover the costs of constructing the High Arrow, Mica Creek, and Duncan Lake dams on the Columbia.

* * *

This strategy is becoming abundantly clear following the premier's confirmation of a Seattle report that he will sell Columbia downstream benefits at five mills per kilowatt hour.

The major stumbling block to the B.C. plans remains the refusal by Ottawa to permit the "export" of power on a firm basis. It is also not sure whether a market could be found in the U.S. for five-mill power.

HE CAN WAIT

But Premier Bennett now is in a position where he can bide his time until Ottawa and the U.S. come to terms. Construction is starting on the Peace River project and this will provide B.C. with all the power it can use until at least 1975 or 1980.

Premier Bennett is apparently following the line laid down by the British firm of consulting engineers employed by the B.C. Energy Board to work out cost estimates.

USED AS BASIS

The voluminous report, prepared by Sir Alexander Gibb and Partners and Merz and McLellan, was used as the basis for the energy board report which was made public Aug. 1.

The British report stated:

"Any parallel development of the two projects (Peace and Columbia) should be considered on the broad basis of Columbia power being exported to the U.S. and Peace power supplying requirements of the province.

SPECIFIC TALKS

"As regards the sale to the U.S. of the downstream benefits, the amount to be paid by the U.S. would naturally have to result from specific negotiations.

"It is clear, however, that such payments would, as an absolute minimum, have to cover the full annual costs of the dams until such time as the (generating) plant is installed at Mica—after which some part of the cost of the Mica Dam would be reasonably allotted to B.C. power."

PREMIER BENNETT
. . . hopes to force

FIGURES GIVEN

The report said the annual sums involved would be in the vicinity of $8,500,000 before Mica was commissioned and $25,500,000 during subsequent years until the addition of plants lead to renegotiation of payments.

"In addition," the engineers' report continued, "Canada would undoubtedly require a further sum by way of consideration for undertaking the responsibility of financing and constructing the three treaty dams."

WANTED TO SELL

In an interview with a Seattle newspaper, Premier Bennett said he wanted to sell the downstream power benefits at five mills.

It is estimated the downstream benefits would be in the neighborhood of 6.6 billion kilowatt hours a year. At five mills this would bring in $33,000,000 a year.

There has been some dispute as to whether the U.S. would pay such a price for B.C. power.

OPENING BID

But the Seattle newspaper said:

"The B.C. premier's offer to sell Canada's half of the new power at five mills may be regarded as an opening bid, subject to negotiation.

"Where Bonneville now sells — and always has — power at $17.50 a kilowatt year, it could sell the new Columbia power at $14. Bonneville has said, in terms of kilowatt hours, that its rate is 2.3 mills per kilowatt hour.

FIND MARKET

"This makes Bennett's offer of five-mill power seem high," the paper continued, "although some sources believe five-mill power would find a market in the San Francisco area. However, Bennett will have to make a lower offer to achieve five mills in San Francisco because of transmission costs, load factors and reliability of supply."

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 24—Breakfast guests were razing towering stacks of wheat cakes in Max Hirsch's cottage beside the King Ranch barn, and in the adjoining room where Miss Mary Frost does the stable's paperwork, a calico kitten named Sheila was riding the carriage of the portable while Miss Frost tried to type a letter. It was, in other words, a perfectly normal rainy morning under the trees beyond the back stretch.

"So Maris has fifty," a man said, "but how about last night's games? Anybody hear the scores?"

"The Giants win another," a guy said, "and they're just four games out, a game and a half behind the Dodgers, who got licked again by St. Louis. Cincinnati still has a lead of two-and-a-half but they're a game behind L.A. in the lost column.

"The Yankees win with nary a home run. Finley has his man Friday running the Athletics and Frank Lane says Finley is a liar. I think that brings you up to date."

"Who is Friday?" the first man asked. "A baseball man?"

"An insurance man," the other said. "He figures the mortality rate on guys working for Finley."

Everything's Up to Date, Etc.

For a new boy on the ranch, Charles O. Finley, the demon policy pedler who made his stack in the insurance business and bought the Kansas City club, has done an outstanding job of making his presence known, not necessarily favorably. In the space of a few months he has:

(1) Publicly nominated his first manager, Joe Gordon, for distinction as manager of the year.

(2) Fired Joe Gordon.

(3) Denied that it was he who fired Gordon.

(4) Threatened to move the team out of Kansas City. ("Maybe they'd want us somewhere else.")

(5) Denied that he ever contemplated moving the team.

(6) Emphatically expressed his satisfaction with and support of Frank Lane, the general manager, and Hank Bauer, Gordon's successor.

(7) Fired Frank Lane without notice in a press conference devoted chiefly to blackguarding the general manager.

(8) Howled from the housetops when criticized in the Kansas City press.

(9) Announced that he was no longer paying the travel expenses of the Kansas City Star's Ernie Mehl and Joe McDuff, critics who say their paper chose to pick up the tab when they accompanied the team out of town.

He Qualifies for Membership

It may be a trifle early to assign the new boy to his proper position in the pantheon of great baseball men, but he already has exhibited one trait which clearly qualifies him for membership in the lodge. Like many others, he is the sort who takes it for granted that, when he makes room for a newspaperman on the team plane, the newspaperman becomes his property.

Though it is far less common now, many newspapers used to let the local ball club pay for the transportation, food, and lodging of correspondents assigned to the team, but the conscientious sports editor would make it clear to a new man on the beat that this arrangement was none of his business and must not deter him from discharging his duties as a reporter.

Not every club owner subscribed to this tacit understanding. "We haul these guys around first class and feed 'em all the fat of the land," some were heard to complain, "and look at the stuff they write about us, the lousy ingrates."

At least one owner told a young reporter to his face: "Write any more stories like that one you had yesterday and you won't be eating free on this club."

The Final Judgement

I never heard of such a case when the newspaperman wasn't quick to suggest what the owner could do with his largesse, and as time went on many papers removed temptation from the magnates' way.

If they continued to let the road secretary book the accommodations, they insisted that the club submit a bill.

Kansas City papers have had relatively little experience with major league owners, so it is possible that no awkward situations arose before Finley came to town. Frank Lane says "The Star" advised him before the season started that it would pay its own way, and that Finley was lying when he spread the impression that he had been lifting the tab.

If it was a lie, its only purpose could have been to embarrass a paper that has charged him with meddling mismanagement. As to the justice of those charges, the public will be the ultimate judge, with the team standings as evidence.

Lots of Help in Future Coming from Minors

The senior club may be having its troubles now, but there seems to be plenty of lacrosse talent for the future being produced in the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association.

A glance at the awards list for the association's wind-up party shows three provincial championships and enough potential Inter-City Lacrosse League stars to have Arnie Ferguson drooling.

Take Allan Mottishaw for instance. He scored 118 goals and had 153 points for Victoria in the midget division. Kelly Jones, playing for Saanich, finished with 83 goals and 105 points.

In the pee wee division there was Bill Majorki with 93 goals and 129 points; Dave Tudor with 84 goals and 115 points, and Frank Alexander with 48 goals and 16 assists.

In the bantam class it was Steve Majorki with 60 goals and 78 points, to win the outstanding player and scoring awards.

Baseball Men Keeping One Eye on Weather

With one eye on the weather and another on the ticket sales, Victoria's senior baseball officials are looking hopefully forward to this weekend's B.C. senior amateur tournament at Royal Athletic Park.

A break from the weather and at the gate are about the only two things needed to make the tournament a cinch success. With four solid, evenly-matched clubs entered, the calibre of play seems all but assured.

Kelowna and Terrace open the tournament Saturday at 1.30 p.m., and Victoria's Transport Workers face the powerful Maple Ridge club at 6.00.

Two more games are scheduled at 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday and at least two more Monday in the double-loss elimination tourney.

The matter of a crowd is important from the standpoint of the future of senior baseball in Victoria. For two years the city has had a fine league and few fans. In this tourney officials hope to attract fans to the park who will take a look and remember the calibre of play when it comes to next season.

Vernon's Delay Could Be Costly

Jokers may win the B.C. senior "B" lacrosse championship without firing a shot if the Vernon team doesn't stop bickering over when the series will be played.

That was the warning issued last night by Doug Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Lacrosse Association, after three days' arguing over the series dates.

The series was originally set for Memorial Arena Sunday and Monday. Vernon said it coudn't get a team here Monday and asked that Victoria play at Vernon. Fletcher countered with an offer of Saturday afternoon and Sunday games, and Vernon still hasn't answered, although word was supposed to be here as of 6 p.m. Tuesday.

"They appealed to the B.C. Lacrosse Association and told their own league they couldn't play Monday without saying anything about the offer to play Saturday and Sunday," Fletcher said.

"I've got the backing of the B.C. Lacrosse Association, and if I don't hear by noon Thursday as I'm supposed to, then I'll have no course but to award the series to Jokers by default.

"The Interior association asked the BCLA at the start of the season to have the series played on the lower mainland so its winner could have a trip," he added.

Mounties Just Meet Payroll Obligations

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Mounties, snowed under with debts that date back as far as 1956, are meeting their payroll—but only just.

Ralph Miller, general manager of the Pacific Coast Baseball League club, said Wednesday the club this year has paid $63,000 of $96,000 in back debts.

All spare money was being used to pay back creditors.

He denied reports that the club would have trouble meeting the end-of-the-month payroll of $15,000 but said the money to meet it will come from two bank accounts and some $8,000 that the parent Milwaukee Braves owed the club for such things as their portion of salaries [illegible] transportation costs. The Braves have said that the money was being sent.

Miller said the second place club, with attendance so far this season 46,000 higher than for the same period last year, would be showing a profit had it not been for past debts. He said the club made $26,000 last month but attendance this month had fallen slightly as Tacoma made a runaway of first place. He anticipated a crowd of 6,000 at Thursday night's "kids night."

Wednesday's game with Seattle was rained out.

Pirates Chill Cincinnati; Yanks Win, Tigers Lose

There's pennant talk in Cincinnati, but they'd better now think about running it up the flagpole just yet. The Reds are having their problems.

Yesterday they saw their lead in the National League shrink to two-and-one-half games. More important they saw star pitcher Bob Purkey take it on the chin for the third straight time.

The Reds ran into Pittsburgh Pirates and a hot Tom Sturdivant, who beat Purkey 3-1. Meanwhile the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers were getting another solid effort from Johnny Podres for a 5-2 victory over Chicago, and San Francisco Giants were getting back into third place with a 2-1 win over Milwaukee Braves behind the pitching of Mike McCormick.

Purkey, now 14-12 for the season, had been rapped in his last two appearances. Yesterday he committed three wild pitches, one allowing a run, and was so hard to handle that catcher Darrell Johnson was charged with two passed balls, the first allowing another run.

STURDIVANT HOT

But even on one of his best days, Purkey would have had trouble beating out Sturdivant, who gave up only four hits. He gave up an unearned run in the second inning, a single to Gene Freese to start the third, then retired the next 20 men he faced.

Jerry Lynch and Coleman singled with two out in the ninth, but Sturdivant got Gus Bell on an infield out to retire the side.

PODRES SHINES

Meanwhile the Dodgers were getting some great pitching of their own from Johnny Podres, whose perennial sore back hasn't kept him from piling up a 17-4 record this season.

Podres needed help from Larry Sherry in the seventh inning, but still posted his fourth straight win, 5-2, over Chicago Cubs. Two-run homers by Charley Neal and Norm Sherry gave the Dodgers the edge.

The Giants beat Milwaukee 2-1, getting both their runs and two of their three hits in the fourth inning. Joe Amalfitano doubled, Willie McCovey tripled, and Willie Mays forced in the winner with a ground out.

In the American League Mickey Mantle hit his 47th homer and New York Yankees stretched their lead to three games, beating Minnesota 4-0, while Detroit Tigers were losing 7-4 to Chicago White Sox.

Mantle's homer came in the seventh inning and left him one game ahead of that pace. Roger Maris, who has 51 homers and is seven games ahead of Ruth, had a run-scoring single in three official trips.

Pitcher Bill Stafford won his 12th in 19 decisions with a four-hit shutout.

The Tigers lost a game, which was bad enough, but they also lost Norm Cash which was immeasurably worse.

Cash, who leads the American League with a .367 average, complained of dizziness and blurred vision, and sat out the game. It was not known how long he would be out of action.

Lacrosse Team in Black Despite Dismal Showing

By JIM TAYLOR

Despite the worst season in its history both in the league and at the gate, Victoria's Inter-City Lacrosse League club finished its 1961 season in the black.

Proof of this rather surprising state of affairs was presented at last night's annual meeting, where a partial financial statement was brought out and directors were elected for next year.

There could be no complete financial report, since the club still does not know its share of the gate receipts or the playoff pool. But although there was a total of $1,800 owing in back debts when the season started, there will definitely be a slight surplus with which to begin work on next season's club.

Two main points have still to be decided before plans can be considered for 1962:

● Arnie Ferguson is still undecided whether or not he will return to coach the club.

● The matter of club sponsorship is still very much up in the air.

HE'S RELUCTANT

Ferguson was not at the meeting, but over the weekend he told the Colonist he is rather reluctant to devote so much time to lacrosse again next year, although he would like to continue the rebuilding program he helped start.

The matter of sponsorship was, as expected, one of the main topics of the meeting.

There has been talk of dropping the brewery sponsorship and returning to the old Victoria Shamrocks name. For that matter, it still isn't known whether the brewery wants to carry on after two bad seasons.

DESIRABLE, BUT . . .

Feeling of the players at the moment is that while it might be desirable to go back to being Shamrocks, it wouldn't be worth losing the sponsor's fee.

Some feel that the name Shamrocks might bring back more fans. But it was pointed out that the club would have to average 500 more fans for each of its 15 home games to make up the money lost if the brewery sponsorship does not continue.

For the moment, the matter rests there, pending word of the sponsor's plans.

NEW DIRECTORS

Five new directors were added to last season's executive at the elections. They are Stan Collier, Keith MacKenzie, Stewart Smith, Roy Wellsby and Tom Jennings.

They replace Wil Wilson, Joe Mitchell and Dave Gray, who resigned due to business pressure.

CHARITY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League raised a total of $680,384.07 for War Relief charities in 1942.

Boxla Dates All Ready

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dates for the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League final between New Westminster and Vancouver were announced here Wednesday.

The series opens tonight at New Westminster, with the second game at Vancouver next Tuesday. Third game will be played Sept. 7 at New Westminster and the fourth Sept. 11 at Vancouver.

Other dates are Sept. 13 at New Westminster, Sept. 15 at Vancouver and Sept. 16 at New Westminster. These games will be played only if necessary.

The last time New Westminster and Vancouver met in the league final was in 1949.

Gary Smith Wins Match

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Dodd Fischer of Eugene, won medalist honors Wednesday in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association Junior Championships but lost his match.

Fischer and Ron Hagen, Seattle, tied for low score with 70s in Monday's qualifying play and it was agreed that whoever shot the best card in Wednesday's match play would be considered the medalist. Fischer had a 73; Hagen an 82. But Hagen won his match.

Don Morrow, Eugene, dropped Fischer 2 and 1, while Hagen defeated Steve Kunz of Wenatchee, 4 and 3.

In another championship flight result, Gary Smith, Victoria, defeated John Ross, Vancouver, 4 and 2.

Who's Knocking?

Canadians Must Be Mellowing

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Canadians must be mellowing.

No one has knocked the federal government's proposal to spend $5,000,000 a year on amateur sport, and that is truly amazing. There must be a red-blooded Canadian somewhere who will get on his feet and denounce the idea as dangerous, or even sinister.

There was general applause when Prime Minister Diefenbaker revealed his proposal at Toronto last Saturday. This couldn't have happened 12 years ago when the idea of government financial assistance to amateur sports first was brought up.

Circumstances were a little different, but the approach was the same. At that time, officials of sports-governing bodies assembled in Ottawa and recommended government expenditure of $10,000,000 over a three-year period for expansion of recreation facilities and an additional $300,000-a-year grant for the coaching, development and so on of amateur athletics.

One of First to Applaud

"Let's keep talking bodies out of the sports picture," hollered one nationally known sports official at a service club luncheon in Ottawa. This chap, who shall remain anonymous because he was one of the first to applaud Mr. Diefenbaker's weekend proposal, declared that if funds for sports were provided from the federal treasury, there would be no incentive for the average citizen to contribute to his community life by backing sports.

"We don't want to be dominated by the government," said an official of another sports body.

The tune has been changed. Officials have reached the point where they are ready to accept help that will enable Canadian athletes in international competition to peel off their fire-engine red sweat suits and swim, run, fight, wrestle, fence, ski, skate and what have you in a creditable manner with the rest of the world.

Wrangling Could Kill It

The prime minister's proposal undoubtedly will be approved by Parliament and it is hoped it doesn't bog down in wrangling among the various amateur sports or in sectional difference. Every amateur sport in the country, with the possible exception of the equestrian and sailing set, is broke and some of their demands could get out of line.

They argue over representation of the various sports in Olympic, British Empire and Pan-American Games. There is a long history of this squabbling, particularly when it comes time to choose Olympic and BE Games athletes, and behind-doors battles have been classics.

The Olympic Association lays down the law about the number of athletes chosen. Without fail, this is exceeded and the fights start when certain sports are told they must cut down.

It's Public's Money

There have been petty fights over the selection of the managers and coaches of the various teams for these international junkets.

The government certainly won't want to get mixed up with this. And the public, which has been practically ignored in money-raising campaigns to pay the cost of sending teams to international competitions, probably will take a closer look at the personnel—athletes and officials—in the future.

After all, it's their money.

Robinson and Greaves Sign for Detroit Fight

DETROIT (AP) — Former middleweight champion Ray Robinson signed Wednesday to fight Will Greaves, a native of Edmonton, in Detroit's new convention arena Sept. 25.

The 10-round bout will be the third staged by the Detroit Boxing club in the 12,000-seat riverfront arena.

Robinson, 41, will be returning to his native city to fight for the first time in several years. The old champion still is hopeful of getting one more crack at the crown he held five times. In his professional career of nearly 20 years, Robinson has won 149 fights, 90 by knockouts.

Greaves is 25 and holds the Canadian middleweight title. He currently fights out of Detroit.

Western Lawn Bowlers Win All Three Canadian Crowns

MONTREAL (CP) — George Rickson and Bill Malin of Edmonton Wednesday won the Canadian Lawn Bowling doubles championship giving western Canada a clean sweep of the three events at the suburban Mount Royal Country Club.

Both Alberta representatives bowled a steady game downing George and Dave Binnie of Winnipeg 22-17 to finish undefeated in the five-game round-robin championships.

Manitoba went into the match with one loss, but a win over Alberta would have given the Binnie brothers the title.

Ed Brown's Norwood, Man., rink and Alberta singles representative Jim Anderson of Edmonton wrapped up the rinks and singles championships earlier in the day with victories in the fourth round.

The Brown rink assured itself of the title when it dropped Bill Leslie's Alberta rink of Calgary 20-14. Quebec, represented by Jim Brodie's rink of suburban Verdun, was the only other challenger for the title going into the fourth round but lost to Jack Marshall's Ontario rink of Toronto 21-16.

Anderson had little trouble in his fourth-round match against Saskatchewan's Harold Clayton of Regina, winning 21-12 in 17 ends for his fourth consecutive victory.

Anderson won his fifth-round match by default from Stan Townsend of Manitoba. Townsend defaulted all his matches after he suffered a slight heart attack in his first match Monday.

The victory for Anderson entitled him to compete in the world bowls, an event open to singles champions in Commonwealth countries.

Anderson rolled 32 bowls and the average distance of the bowls from the jack was recorded as his score.

His average distance was two feet 11 1/16 inches, well off the pace set by last year's champion, Tom Fleming of England, whose distance was one foot 8 7/16 inches.

After sweeping the first four games the Manitoba rink dropped its final match to Quebec 28-14, giving the Lachine foursome second position in the standings.

John Gavin's British Columbia rink, pre-tourney favorites, swamped Saskatchewan's entry skipped by George McNie 25-14 and battled to a 22-22 draw with Alberta in the final round.

Saskatchewan took its fourth loss of the meet, bowing to Ontario 24-14.

In the doubles British Columbia's Tom and Graham Jarvis of Vancouver handed Manitoba its first setback, downing the Binnies 30-25.

Alberta swamped Ontario's Tom Graham and George Robbins of London 30-10 in their fourth-round match.

Quebec's Malcolm Moon of suburban Verdun won both his singles matches to finish in second place with four wins.

He edged Malcolm Nelson of Vancouver, British Columbia representative 21-18 in 23 ends and staged a late come-back to top Jim Law of Galt, Ont., 21-19 in the final round.

Nelson dropped a game to Saskatchewan's Harold Clayton 21-9 in 20 ends.

Hutchinson's Grim Desire for Win Often Splintered Up Furniture

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back in the days when Freddie Hutchinson was a pitcher he was noted as a man with an implacable hatred for defeat.

"I always knew how Hutch did when we followed Detroit into a town," Yogi Berra once said. "If we had stools in the dressing room, I'd know he'd won. If we got kindling, he lost."

That grim desire for victory is one of the leading factors behind the fact that the pilot of the Cincinnati Reds is a cinch to be the major league manager of the year.

MANY REASONS

There are many other reasons, of course. You don't win in the majors unless you have the horses. Hutch got them and then he groomed them and made them believe in themselves. But in his ever-present aversion to defeat, he also let them know that there would be no nonsense.

"Sweat," he said, "is your only salvation."

They sweated through their slumps and under his quiet guidance, rallied themselves to win the big ones. It still is a source of surprise to many that a sixth place club of a year ago is rocking along on top of the heap.

WHAT HE WANTED

The Reds already have publicly admitted the magnitude of the job he has done by extending his contract two more years. That was what he wanted when he walked out on the Tigers in 1954 and returned to his native Seattle to manage a minor league team. H quit "as a matter of principle."

Hutchinson is a burly man referred to by some as "the Bear." He has a long-jawed, prominent chin with a thin, pulled down mouth which gives him a look of perpetual sadness. He has a sleepy-eyed look which contributes to a deceptively gentle appearance but there is the overall impression of a straining typhoon in a sagging harness.

NO QUESTION

There is no question, in the front office or among the players, as to who runs the ball club. When he managed the Cardinals from 1956 until his firing in 1958, he was under constant pressure from above. There was an occasion when owner Gussie Busch insisted that Hutch play a certain man.

"If I want to play a clown I'll hire Emmett Kelly," Hutch told him, and walked out.

They said he was unimaginative and played it too closely by the book. They also dusted off the time-honored slogan that former pitchers usually don't make good managers.

WHY SHOULDN'T HE?

"If pitching is a big factor," he grated, "and it's been marked up to 70 per cent, then why shouldn't a manager with practical pitching knowledge be well grounded in this department?"

The grandstand critics he ignored.

"They've never crossed those white lines," he shrugged. "Hell anybody can play ball in a saloon."

Replacing Mayo Smith as manager of the Reds two years ago, he brought the club up from seventh to fifth. Last year they dropped to sixth but Hutch was making his changes and, never second guessing his players, drew from them an ever-increasing respect. Meanwhile, the old pitcher whose background drew scorn was rebuilding that Cincinnati staff.

If the Reds lose it won't be because they hit the panic button.

"You can't do that," he says. "You grind, day after day, and the worst thing you can do is second guess yourself. That's when you panic."

There's one more thing you can be sure of. Under Hutch they won't quit fighting. That's what he knows best and, win or lose, he's done the best job of managing in the big leagues this season.

Harlan, Dean Hambletonian Winner

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Harlan Dean, who had won only once in eight starts this year and did not race at all until July 21, Wednesday trotted successive mile heats of 1:58.4 and 1:59 to capture the Hambletonian with a world record performance.

The brown son of Harlan, trained by Del Miller and driven by 42-year-old Jimmy Arthur, took a winner's slice of $77,364 out of the total purse $131,573, third highest offered in harness racing.

Arthur brought Harlan Dean from fourth at the end of the three-quarter mark to third in the stretch during the blistering first heat.

As Duke Rodney, Yonkers Futurity winner and highly favored in the Hambletonian broke stride while leading in the middle of the stretch, Harlan Dean and Matastar whizzed by and dueled to the finish with Harlan Dean winning by a head.

In the second heat, Harlan Dean beat the unofficial 4-to-5 favorite, Caleb, by 2½ lengths while Spectator driven by Ralph Baldwin of Lloydminster, Sask., was third and Claire Sampson fourth—all a head apart.

Caleb, owned by Mrs. Charlotte de Vgn of Hanover, Pa., and piloted by John Simpson, took second money, $32,235. Matastar was third to earn $12,894.

For 'Bad Conduct'

Ralston Back In Doghouse

FOREST HILLS (AP)—Davis Cup star Dennis Ralston is back in the doghouse with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

He was suspended by the USLTA Tuesday for "bad conduct" and became ineligible for the U.S. championships starting here Friday.

George Barnes, president of the USLTA, issued a statement mentioning Ralston's antics in the Davis Cup American zone final against Mexico in Cleveland two weeks ago as the primary cause of the suspension. Ralston, 19, already had been placed on a year's probation for acting up in Australia last year.

NO LIMIT

Barnes did not place a time limit on the suspension. This led some observers to believe that when Ralston appears for a hearing Sept. 8 his banishment from the U.S. championships may be considered sufficient punishment.

"After all," said one official, "getting to the Davis Cup challenge round means about $25,000 to the USLTA. If Ralston is needed to help us get there, I can't see them making the suspension stick."

Barnes' statement said "the USLTA will no longer tolerate in domestic or international play incidents of racket throwing, ball-kicking or profanity." It did not mention the specific violations charged to Ralston, ranked No. 3 in the U.S. Australia defeated the U.S. for the Davis Cup last year.

Empiric Loves Muddy Going

VANCOUVER (CP) — Driving rain turned the Vancouver's Exhibition Park track into a sea of mud Wednesday but the day couldn't have been brighter for Turf Enterprises' Empiric.

The handsome son of Discovery-Convert revelled in the tough going to score an impressive two-length victory in the $3,500 Added Stepping Stone Handicap.

It was the first victory since May 27 for the seven-year-old brown gelding, who waged a head-to-head duel with the English-bred Milstead all the way and covered the six-furlongs in an excellent 1.12 4-5.

Empiric, who paid $4.20 to win, brought his Vancouver owners $2,800 for the victory and now has earned $7,825 this season.

Empiric, Milstead and Maxinkuckee, who finished third Wednesday, are all pointed at B.C.'s richest horse races which will be run next week at the Exhibition Park.

These will include the $8,000 Randall Plate on Labor Day and the $7,500 Added Premier Handicap Sept. 9.

The co-feature Wednesday was won by Norman Leaver's game seven-year-old gray mare Silver Leaves, who scored a driving victory over F. Ronald Graham's Grey Cup in the sixth.

Wynn's 300 Must Wait

DETROIT (AP) — Early Wynn, who had hoped to become one of baseball's 300-game winners this year, is through for the season and has left for home, Chicago White Sox have announced.

Wynn, 41, has had a sore arm for several weeks and rejoined the club Saturday after a two-week rest. But Dr. Anthony Guzausks, club physician, advised Wynn to rest his arm until next season.

Wynn has won 292 games in his major league career that started in 1939 and had an 8-2 record this season.

BALKER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vic Raschi committed four balks while pitching for the New York Yankees, May 3, 1950, to establish a major league record for one game.

Garden Notes

Roses Have Gall

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

For some reason I have never been able to figure out, plant troubles always seem to come in cycles. One year we spend most of our waking hours doing battle with slugs. Another year, our No. 1 headache is cutworms, and so it goes. This year, I have been swamped with requests for help from home gardeners whose rose bushes are afflicted with galls.

These are round, ball-like growths on the woody stems, usually covered with prickles, and the growth above the gall is weak and distorted. Almost every batch of mail these days brings at least one package containing a specimen of these thorny balls cut from a rose bush, along with a plaintive letter asking where the thing came from and what to do about it.

* * *

Some galls are caused by bacteria, but a small fly is responsible for the present epidemic. After mating, the female fly seeks out a rose bush and lays her eggs in the wood of the stem, at the same time injecting an irritant chemical through her hypodermic ovipositor which causes the stem to swell and the prickly ball to form.

This creates a comfortable home for the grubs when the eggs hatch out. Safe from all sprays and dusts within the swollen stem, which in turn is protected by formidable thorns, they feed upon the pith and fibre of the rose wood until they are old enough to emerge, pupate, and become adult flies, whereupon the whole cycle is repeated and more roses infested.

* * *

Like so many of our garden problems, rose galls can be prevented but not cured. By the time one of these prickly balls is noticed on a rose stem, the grubs are holed up safely where you can't get at them with any conventional spray or dust. The only practicable treatment is to cut off the infested shoots below the gall and put it in the incinerator, along with its unwelcome occupants, before they can complete their growth cycle and become adult flies.

The galls are usually fairly low on the stem, and cutting will often involve sacrificing a considerable portion of good rose bush, but there is no alternative.

* * *

To prevent these galls, it is necessary to nip the gall fly's activities in the bud before she can fulfil her biological destiny and shoot your rose bush full of grub eggs. I don't think any insecticide is 100 per cent effective against her, for even if you booby-trap your plants by keeping them covered with a thin, protective coating of rose dust or DDT, the fly would probably have time to inject her eggs before passing on to a Better Land as a result of her contact with the poison dust.

Fortunately, though, rose dust seems to exercise a certain repellent effect—either that, or the smell of the dust masks the natural odor of the plant by which the fly identifies the rose. If the bushes are kept constantly coated with a thin protective coating throughout the growing season, starting when they first leaf out, the fly will avoid them, seeking easier pickings elsewhere.

'Fanny' a Hit in New York

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Rock Hudson's "Come September" must wait for "Fanny" to quit the Music Hall in New York. That could be several more weeks. The Charles Boyer-Maurice Chevalier-Leslie Caron film has really caught on.

* * *

Gig Young rented his New York apartment to Anna Maria Alberghetti, and he will have to stay a month in a hotel while rehearsing and taping "A Spiral Staircase," with Lillian Gish in the part played on the screen by the late Ethel Barrymore.

* * *

Shirley Jones is in the chips. She is rich enough to pay $250,000 for the home she bought from Merle Oberon . . . Have you noticed that Merle is getting more publicity these days than many of the working stars? I'm wondering how her marriage is going with that millionaire Mexican.

* * *

Next Biblical picture—and there are five on Christ alone—will be "Mary Magdalene," starring Jennifer Jones. Jennifer has been wanting to do this for a long time.

* * *

Dorothy Malone and Jacques Bergerac explain the marriage-trouble talk with the fact that Jacques can get all the movies he wants to make in Europe but not here. While Dorothy is currently making one television show after another. Well, it's always asking for trouble to be separated—by work or anything else.

* * *

George Gobel says he invested $150,000 of his own money for his first Broadway musical, "Let It Ride." George can afford to take the chance, though every Broadway producer will tell you 'don't invest your own money.' Gobel's Gomalco Company is richer by $1,000,000 from the sale of the "Leave It to Beaver" batch of TV segments.

* * *

June Allyson is keeping her fingers crossed that she will not need an operation for removal of kidney stones. She is now at home in Beverly Hills with Dick Powell, trying to regain the weight she could not afford to lose. June has had a rough time with her health in recent months.

* * *

Sammy Davis will have another operation on his nose, which was smashed in that auto accident a few years ago, in which he also lost an eye. His nose has been bothering him and must be broken again and reset. Sammy is perhaps the most popular American performer in London today where he is now giving them his "Evening with Sammy Davis."

Chance for Canadians

U.K. Fellowships Widened

Athlone Fellowships, under which 41 young Canadians will be selected this fall for two years' training in British industrial establishments or universities, have been widened in scope.

The fellowships are granted in two sections: Group A for university graduates, for whom there are 31 fellowships; and Group B, young engineers in industry, not necessarily graduates, for whom there are 10 fellowships.

Anxiety to increase the number of applicants in the second group has brought about the changes just announced by the United Kingdom Information Service.

Applications will be received in this group from candidates up to 30 years of age; a limited number of applications will be considered for one-year fellowships.

In Group A, there will be no fixed quota for each university, but the 31 fellowships will be awarded on a Canada-wide basis in order of merit.

Maintenance allowance of the fellowships anywhere in the United Kingdom is now £618 per year.

While in the past selection has been made in January or February of each year, the selection board will meet earlier this winter, so that applications will be received up to Nov. 15.

Application forms may be obtained from Dr. W. H. Gage, dean of administrative and inter-faculty affairs, University of British Columbia.

Train Derailed

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—Twenty cars of a 94-car CNR freight train were derailed south of here Wednesday. No injuries were reported among the crew. Railway officials said it will take about two weeks to clean up all the wreckage.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

There's a first-rate, old-fashioned novel that somehow got lost in the shuffle a few months ago. It's called, "Find the Boy," by W. H. Canaway, an English author who has previously written two novels and two books on fishing (the jacket says). I'd never heard of him before, but I'd certainly like to read those two earlier novels of his, now that I've finished "Find the Boy." Here's a man who can tell a story.

"Find the Boy" (In England it was called "Sammy Going South") is the story of a 10-year-old boy, Sammy Hartland, whose parents are killed by a bomb in Port Said at the outbreak of the brief Suez War in 1956. Sammy's only remaining relative is an aunt who runs a hotel in Durban, South Africa, some five thousand miles to the South, and he goes off on his own to join her. His adventures on that five-thousand-mile trek make up the book.

* * *

Nothing could be more straightforward and more old-fashioned than this plot. It's got the innocent child in it who learns about life, and the adventures of a traveler along the road, and a succession of strange people, scenes, and animals, and a final happy ending when Sammy walks into his aunt's hotel in Durban.

* * *

Mr. Canaway obviously has read a lot of very famous books—like "David Copperfield," and Kipling's "Jungle Book," and "Treasure Island," and "Huckleberry Finn," and John Buchan's "Huntingtower"—but he has managed to stir the mixture well and come up with a most satisfying new product. This is the kind of book people tell each other about because it has given them a fine emotional experience; it's the kind of book, to describe it exactly, that would make a splendid Walt Disney movie.

* * *

As I said, "Find the Boy" got lost in the shuffle and nobody seems to have heard of it. Why it isn't a bestseller is one of those mysteries of the book world nobody has ever been able to explain. Perhaps the time has passed when people would find enjoyment in such a simple story. Perhaps it's just because Mr. Canaway hasn't—yet—a famous name.

Perhaps, some five or 10 years from now, he'll be well established and widely known, and "Find the Boy" will be rediscovered and read by millions.

15,000 More Servicemen?

OTTAWA (CP)—A modest increase in Canada's armed forces is under consideration, it was announced Wednesday.

Informants said, however, the government has not yet made any decision.

One estimate is an increase of 10,000 to 15,000 for all the armed forces from the present manpower ceiling of 120,000. The present ceiling—the forces are at it now—breaks down to 81,000 for the RCAF, 40,000 for the army and 20,000 for the navy.

During the last few weeks, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been hinting at possible increases in defence expenditures.

It is believed such increases will largely involve national survival. But it is thought possible the increases will also be for strengthening the regular armed forces in key areas.

A beefing-up of Canada's NATO contribution — this country has an army brigade and an air division in Europe —has been hinted.

Speculation the manpower ceiling will be increased by 30,000 at a cost of $300,000,000 has been described as "exaggerated."

Stands with U.S.

Canada Will Vote Against Red China

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will vote against entry of Communist China to the UN when this matter is debated in the UN general assembly this fall, informed sources said Wednesday.

The U.S. has made it clear it will not stand in the way of a debate on the issue this year. In the past, the U.S. has proposed resolutions to put aside the matter for another year. Canada supported these.

Informants said the U.S. this year would not have been able to muster enough support to defer debate on admittance of Red China for another year.

On the other hand, UN members favoring entry of Communist China in all likelihood won't be able to obtain the two-thirds majority necessary to get China into the world body this year.

The UN general assembly is scheduled to meet in New York Sept. 19.

Drinking Boatmen Plague on Society

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Alcoholism Foundation of B.C. says a new problem faces society—the drinking small-boat operator. And with the increase in pleasure boating the problem could become serious.

A movement has begun to have boat operators licensed like car drivers. Some authorities point out that while the drinking boat operator is open to a fine or imprisonment—as high as $500 or six months in jail—there is no way to rule him off the water as the car driver can be ruled off the road.

Victoria Lawyer Loses 'Freedom'

WINNIPEG (CP) — A Victoria lawyer lost what he considered to be his personal freedom to the freedom of the press when the civil rights section of the Canadian bar convention voted to allow a photographer to take pictures during their session.

D. G. Kennedy jumped to his feet to object to a photographer taking his picture during the session. He said this infringed on his civil rights and called for a vote of the meeting to over-rule the individual who had apparently granted permission for pictures to be taken.

Mr. Kennedy was the only lawyer present who voted to oust the photographer and the pictures were taken.

The civil rights speaker at the time, Dr. Morris Shumiatcher, noted that the Canadian Bill of Rights did not guarantee anyone the "rights of privacy."

More Students Receive Grants

Nearly 20 per cent more university students are eligible for provincial government scholarships than last year, the education department said yesterday.

A total of 73 students from Vancouver Island, of 350 in the province, will have half their tuition fees paid by the government.

The scholarships range in value from $161 to $264, depending on which faculty the student registers with. All students eligible averaged 80 per cent or higher in final examinations.

Parking Vote Result Due Early Tonight

The fate of city hall's $1,115,000 downtown parking plan will be known within minutes of the close of polls tonight.

Polling place is city clerk Frank Hunter's office, Room 2 at city hall. Votes may be cast between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

At least 60 per cent of those who vote must be in favor of the scheme for the bylaw to pass. Voting is restricted to some 218 owners of downtown property.

The money bylaw on which the property owners will be voting is to authorize council to borrow $1,115,000 for the construction of two off-street parking garages downtown to hold 600 cars.

Under terms of the bylaw the property owners would be held responsible for any losses which might be sustained in operation of the garages.

City Chamber Completes Lease Deal

Negotiations were completed yesterday giving the Victoria Chamber of Commerce a lease on quarters in the Bank of Montreal Building on Douglas Street.

Although smaller than the present premises in the Black Ball Building, the new home of the chamber should be sufficient to meet current needs, as the chamber has already severed connection with various sub-tenants who used part of the property in the Black Ball Building.

ALREADY VACANT

The announcement was made by A. E. Walters, president-elect of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and also the manager of the main office of the Bank of Montreal in Victoria.

The new chamber offices were formerly occupied by a legal firm but have been vacant for some time.

ALTERATIONS SET

Mr. Walters said the rent which would be paid by the chamber was not in excess of that being paid at present.

The bank is to spend about $2,000 on alterations to the office suite, and the chamber will move in shortly. Its lease on the present building expires at the end of this month.

Inquiry Suggests End to Merger

OTTAWA (UPI) — The restrictive trade practices commission yesterday suggested court action to dissolve a merger of Canada Packers Ltd. with Wilsil Ltd. Montreal, and Calgary Packers Ltd., Calgary.

Failing that, the commission said, a court order should be sought to prohibit Canada Packers from "making any further acquisitions which would lessen competition in the meat packing industry."

The findings of the commission were made public by Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, who said the "usual consideration" would be given the recommendations.

Canada Packers acquired the Calgary firm in 1956 and the Montreal one in 1957.

Civic Clerk Before Bench

Charged in city police court yesterday with thefts totaling $1,122.43 from Victoria Civic Credit Union, Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, 51, chief clerk in the city comptroller's department, was remanded to Tuesday.

MacKenzie, an employee of the city for 32 years and currently under suspension, heard a seven-count charge read to him. He is free on $1,000 bail.

Magistrate William Ostler noted to defence counsel that a second charge, containing two counts of $1,200 each in June and July of this year, is also alleged.

The other seven include five counts of $100 each, one of $102.43 and one of $520, and cover a period from July 20, 1960, to June 20 of this year.

MacKenzie, who lives at 2004 Townley, is treasurer of the credit union and president of the City Hall inside staff.

Ronald George Fox, 1325 Rudlin, pleaded guilty in Saanich court to charges of careless driving, driving while under suspension, and driving without insurance, following a crash at midnight Tuesday.

He was remanded to Thursday for sentence.

Court was told Fox pulled out to pass another car on the Trans-Canada Highway near Portage, swung back to avoid an oncoming car, lost control and went more than 200 feet out of control before the car rolled onto its roof across a ditch near Admirals Road.

Six juveniles appeared in Colwood juvenile court.

Four pleaded guilty to speeding charges after being checked by radar and were fined $7.50 each. The last admitted operating a boat that was improperly equipped. He also was fined $5.

School Rule Means Boy Must Limp

SECHELT (CP)—The Sechelt School Board is standing by its decision to re-route a school bus away from the home of 12-year-old Michael Klein who is partially crippled from a polio attack. It means Michael will have to limp half a mile over a gravel road every day if he is to catch the bus. His parents say he can't. Re-routing of the bus, which passed their door for six years, will save the school board 80 cents a day.

Liner, Cruise Ship Bump Passengers Stay Asleep

MONTREAL (CP) — The 22,000-ton Cunard liner Carinthia docked in Montreal Wednesday with only a few yards of smashed paint to mark her pre-dawn collision with a cruise ship above Quebec City.

Three or four 15-foot scratches near the port bow of the liner showed where she and the Canada Steamship Lines' Tadoussac banged together in heavy fog. Few of her 873 passengers were aware of the incident.

No one was injured and there was no panic, but a few of the 200 passengers aboard the Tadoussac suffered shock. There were 253 crew members on the cruise ship.

The Tadoussac suffered light damage on the two upper decks. Three cabins and several lifeboats were damaged.

Oil Rights Issue Coming to Head

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

By Friday afternoon the federal and British Columbia governments may find themselves in the untenable position of having sold the same oil and gas exploration rights to different oil companies.

This state of affairs is almost certain to follow a sale of permits for about 14,000,000 acres of underwater oil and gas prospects in the Hecate Strait between the Queen Charlotte Islands and the B.C. mainland.

TWO THERE

The Shell Oil Co. of Canada already holds federal permits for about 11,000,000 offshore acres in this area, while Canadian Husky Oils holds permits for a considerably smaller acreage.

Richfield Oil also holds acreage in the Hecate Strait area, but in this case the permits have been granted by both the federal and provincial governments.

LOT DECISION

When the B.C. government invites applications for offshore acreage tomorrow morning, it will decide by lot the order in which the permit seekers will be allowed to stake their claims.

P. J. Mulcahy, B.C. deputy minister of mines, says the sale of rights has attracted considerable interest among oil companies and a large number of applicants will attend.

SAME CHANCE

It thus seems certain that, unless by some chance Shell Oil of Canada draws the first pick of the acreage at stake, some or all of the 1,000,000 acres on which it holds the federal permit will be taken up by other oil companies—thus creating double ownership.

The B.C. government's action is thus almost certain to bring to a head the question of ownership of offshore mineral rights.

The B.C. government has always understood that under the BNA Act it had full disposal of all minerals under B.C. coastal tideway. It points out such rights were not challenged with the underground coal workings at Nanaimo and other places.

Two years ago the federal government passed an act giving it control of mineral resources offshore from the Northwest Territories and Yukon lands.

Government spokesmen gave no indication at the time the government sought to claim the offshore titles adjacent to the coastal provinces.

However, since the passage of that act, the federal government has insisted that oil companies seeking rights in any Canadian coastal waters—including those of the Hecate Strait—had to make application for them to the federal government.

The B.C. government now threatens to put the ruling to the test.

Sound Barrier Broken By Canadian Airliner

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines announced yesterday one of its DC-8 jetliners has become the world's first commercial transport to exceed the speed of sound.

The airliner said the sound barrier was broken by an aircraft undergoing pre-delivery flight tests by Douglas Aircraft Company at Long Beach, Calif.

In a statement it said the record was established last week in a flight from Long Beach to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

London Road Toll Worst in History

LONDON (UPI)—Metropolitan London had its worst traffic toll in history last year, Scotland Yard reported.

There were 74,141 casualties, including 912 deaths. The previous record was set in 1959.

Top Hat Fails 'Jailbird'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Millworker John Kessler dressed formally for his court appearance Wednesday.

He left behind the "jailbird" shirt, banjo and accordion he took to court last week in favor of a black suit, black bow tie and silk top hat.

But Mr. Kessler, who said last week he was preparing for a stay in jail, had his case adjourned again.

Magistrate Len Bewley rejected his submission that the police court hasn't jurisdiction in the case, in which Mr. Kessler is charged with failing to comply with a zoning bylaw.

Dairymen:

Butter Slash 'Bad'

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Dairy Council of Canada Wednesday protested any plan by the government to reduce the continuing butter surplus by means of big price reductions.

A telegram sent by national president Pierre Cote of Quebec City to Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said the council is concerned about reports that butter and butter oil — a byproduct — might be sold commercially at "fire-sale prices of about one-third consumer retail prices."

LITTLE IMPACT

The wire said Canadian consumers would not benefit from "this expenditure of public funds." The volume would have little impact on the surplus and a proposal to sell to cookie and cake manufacturers would discriminate against other industries and hamper normal commercial sales of butter.

Jobless Pay Investigation Starts Soon

Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—The government-appointed committee of inquiry into the Unemployment Insurance Act has set up an office and is undertaking preliminary work before public hearings begin in October.

Within the next day or two the committee will be inviting unions, business organizations and others to submit information, proposals and opinions.

The government decided this summer to shelve proposed unemployment insurance amendments until a committee similar to a royal commission review the legislation.

Padded Cell Ruled Out For Saanich

Saanich municipality had planned for every eventuality in the design of its new police and fire department building.

There was to be mahogany paneling in the police chief's office, and a padded cell downstairs.

NOT PRACTICAL

Architects yesterday reluctantly advised municipal council that the padded cell just wasn't practical.

The mahogany paneling for the chief's office will go in.

Padded cells, the architects found as they worked on the $200,000 building, are easier to occupy than build.

PROVES COSTLY

Special canvas coverings and padding must be removed for cleaning and the components are costly. The committee compromised on an additional woman's cell.

The "drunk tank" will be a model of bright, functional cleanliness.

Estimated completion date is March of next year.

First Theft In Campsite

A gasoline camp stove missing from a McDonald Park campsite near Sidney is believed to be the first theft reported from a government campsite in this area.

Theft was reported by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Worth of Los Angeles.

Edgelow Denies Tisdalle Charge

By TED PULFORD

Is the ailing and almost bankrupt B.C. Agricultural Association justified in its pleas for public support—or is it merely a "front" for a group intent on setting up a racetrack and local "Coney Island" on the association's property?

People in high places on Vancouver Island can be found to support both views.

BCAA president Geoffrey Edgelow yesterday vehemently denied the society had any intention of turning its 140 acres of land at Colwood into a racetrack.

THAT'S ALL

"The society is made up of Islanders who want what's good for the Island. We're trying to organize a fair—and that's all."

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle earlier drew a bead on Ald. Edgelow and his association, then let fly with a charge that the fair was "a front for a Coney Island and racetrack scheme."

SUCH BASICS

Mr. Tisdalle went on to snipe at the BCAA's inability to handle such basics as rent payments while still indulging in promotional schemes.

"The racing fans are already adequately served by the North Saanich track, which is admirably situated at the confluence of the Island's transport arteries."

HIS SOLUTION

Mr. Tisdalle trotted out his solution.

"The Saanichton fair," he said, "has inspired the support of most of the agriculture-minded people in the area. It offers the most and the best for young and old.

"Public support is most important in the life of a fair.

NOT AVAILABLE

"By comparison, the BCAA pleas for money by the mayor of Victoria and Ald. Edgelow show this necessary public interest is not available to the BCAA."

Branding the Tisdalle statement "irresponsible in the extreme," Ald. Edgelow said racing was the farthest thing from the minds of BCAA directors.

"He's got this idea in his head simply because there was a track there years ago. This is a notion entertained by many ill-informed people, but it is just not so."

What, then, does the BCAA intend to do with the Colwood property?

"That depends what the people of the Island want us to do with it," said Mr. Edgelow. "The BCAA wants what they want."

Is membership in the BCAA open to the public, and does it therefore belong to the people?

Mr. Edgelow says it does—even though the people have been slow to admit the connection. Membership in the BCAA is only about 100.

"But wait a bit," he concluded pensively. "there's a membership drive coming."

Gordon Head 'Clanking' Explained

Gordon Head residents who have had their sleep disturbed by clanking sounds emanating from a barge anchored close to shore can rest assured they won't soon find their view obstructed by a forest of "Texas towers."

The barge, operated by Vancouver Pile Driving and Contracting Co., Ltd., is not drilling for oil but is preparing the outfall of a new Saanich sewage system.

The round-the-clock work is likely to continue for another two weeks.

Bumpy Buses Shifted

Buses operating on new schedules have been temporarily rerouted to avoid a section of Gonzales Avenue where residents have complained the heavy vehicles cause their houses to vibrate.

Some half dozen complaints have been received from persons living on Gonzales, between Richmond and Richardson, Ald. Michael Griffin, chairman of city hall's transit committee, said last night.

NEW ROUTE

The new route which went into effect Monday morning took buses from Despard along Gonzales to Richardson. The amended route will be Despard, Richmond and Richardson.

A second temporary change is being considered, Ald. Griffin said. He stressed the amended route to avoid Gonzales does not affect any bus stops.

TWO ISSUES

A meeting of the transit committee will be held in city hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday to consider a number of complaints from the public and to decide if the amended route avoiding Gonzales will stand.

70 More Places To Park

New bus routes adopted by the B.C. Electric this week have given Victoria an additional 70 parking spaces.

Ald. Michael Griffin, chairman of the city hall transit committee, said the 70 additional spaces were made available by a reduction in the number of bus stops in Victoria.

Main street affected is Yates, he said. Bus stops on both sides of the street have been freed.

Parking meters will be installed on the former bus stops, Ald. Griffin said.

CNR Veterans' Association will hold a meeting in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Cormorant Street at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Off to Mountains

City Project Narrowed To Six Ideas

Victoria's centennial project for next year will be chosen from six suggestions—a beacon at Clover Point, a new city hall, an auditorium, restoration of Bastion Square, restoration of Craigdarroch Castle and development of Cathedral Hill civic precinct.

These six possible projects were chosen yesterday from dozens suggested by the public. They were picked at a meeting of the project subcommittee of Victoria Centennial Committee.

A further meeting will be held Sept. 11 to narrow the choice to four, and to put them in order of preference.

Medal to Be Struck For City Centenary

A special centennial medal will be struck for presentation to Victoria pioneers.

"We haven't picked the design yet, but it will have significance," James K. Nesbitt said last night.

He is seeking the names of all living pioneers who were in Victoria in 1887 or before.

All names should be sent to city hall before Dec. 31. Mr. Nesbitt plans a centennial birthday party for the pioneers.

20 Works Sold In Two Months

By TED PULFORD

Proud though Victorians are of the local "art colony," they apparently don't think enough of the art being produced to pay good money for it.

The Kiwanis Club art shop, a new venture launched earlier this summer to deal exclusively in the work of local painters, was hailed at the outset by artists thus provided with an outlet for their art.

CLOSING FOR SEASON

Now—some two months and a scant 20 sales later—the shop's director, Dr. Hugh Borsman, is getting ready to close down for the season.

Even though the kitty has only $425 to show for a summer's business, Dr. Borsman is pleased with the results.

"This is something new, after all, and since we were lucky enough to get shop space rent free, most of the proceeds went back to the artists who made the pictures," he said.

PLACE TO EXHIBIT

In the opinion of Dr. Borsman and his son, Terry, who operated the shop at Yates and Government throughout the summer without pay, the important thing is that artists have had a place to exhibit their work to the public.

A committee of referees, chosen from among the city's art experts, screened all work hung in the shop to assure the purchaser of his money's worth.

FEW HAD OUTLET

Before the shop opened for business, very few of the Island's scores of serious amateur artists had an assured outlet for their work.

It was set up to operate only on a summer season basis because the Kiwanis Club's vocational guidance committee believed tourists would provide bulk of the trade.

In practice, however, local purchasers accounted for something like 80 per cent of sales.

With this in mind, some alternative is being sought to completely abandoning the plan for the winter. It has been suggested, for instance, that one of the larger stores might donate space to the project in return for a small commission on sales.

Staff might be provided from among the artists themselves.

INDEPENDENT

If such, an arrangement could be made to weather the lean winter months, the shop would be able to re-open in an independent location next summer.

Will such a move be made? Some artists like the idea—with one reservation. They feel they're not competent enough as business men to operate without direction.

Detective Teams Split By City Police Ruling

Victoria city police commission yesterday gave formal approval to detectives working singly instead of in pairs.

Four old motorcycles used by city police traffic officers will be retired this fall and replaced by $7,131 worth of new machines, purchase of which was approved yesterday.

The motorcycles will include two solo machines and two tricycle type.

The commission also approved the sending of a senior member of the force to the advanced training school op-

Boy's Death Ruled Accidental .22 Bullet Cut Large Artery

Death of a 10-year-old Victoria West boy, killed Monday afternoon by a .22 bullet, was ruled accidental by a coroner's jury yesterday.

The jury told deputy coroner H. E. Alder, following an inquest at McCall's funeral chapel, that death was due to the accidental discharge of a firearm.

IN BASEMENT

Killed was Reginald Alsdorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. R. Alsdorf, 216 Robert. The accident occurred in the basement of the home of T. G. Rayfuse, 512 Selkirk.

Story of the accident was told to the jury by Vincent Liska, also 10, of the Selkirk Street address, chum of the dead boy.

Speaking under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, the boy said:

"I got out the gun and the bullet. I didn't know how to load it, but Reggie did. He loaded it and handed it back to me and it went off.

"He put his hands on his stomach and said 'I'm shot.'

"Then he ran up the stairs and out of the basement. He fell against a gate, got up and ran to the front of the house, fell again, then got up and ran closer to the house and fell down."

LYING ON LAWN

Const. Douglas Grant of city police said he and another officer found the boy lying on the lawn in front of the house, near the front steps. In a brief examination he could find no pulse, and noticed a small wound in the stomach. The boy was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Mr. Alder asked the Liska boy if this was the first time he had handled a gun.

"Well," was the reply. "I have been hunting with my dad."

ARTERY CUT

Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee, said direct cause of death was perforation by the bullet of the large artery which carries blood through the body.

Mr. Rayfuse, Vincent's stepfather, said the gun involved was a Belgian-made .22 he had had since he was a boy himself.

LOCKED UP

It was kept, he said, in a drawer in a chest in the basement. He said he kept his ammunition locked in a box on the basement rafters.

The lone bullet found by the boys, he said, was in a box containing other items. He had no idea it was there.

New Hours Set For Book Room

British Israel Association's book room and library at 728 Fort Street will be open on week days starting Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The library will close at 1 a.m. each Wednesday.

The association will begin this season's weekly meetings on Sept. 12.

Vladimir's a Strange Cookie Knows All About Social Credit

* * *

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

* * *

THE COLD WAR: The only Russian I've ever had anything to do with was a vodka-belting diplomat named Vladimir.

He was a strange cookie.

At the time, Vladimir was third or fourth secretary at the Russian embassy in New Zealand and we met when a mutual friend asked us all along to a show by a stage hypnotist.

Vladimir and his wife, judging by their laughter, enjoyed the show immensely—until the hypnotist got one of his stooges to take the part of a Communist making a political speech.

Vladimir and his wife became stone-faced.

Afterwards, in heavily-accented English, Vladimir confided that he had indeed enjoyed the show except for the part about the Communist politician.

"It voss not foony!" he said.

"Okay, Vladimir," said our mutual friend. "If you like I will telephone the ambassador and tell him you did not laugh at, the bit about the Communist."

"Thank you," declared a deadly serious Vladimir. "And vile you are about it vould you also tell ambassador that my vife did not laugh either!"

* * *

AFTER THIS we saw quite a bit of Vladimir, who usually came armed with a bottle of genuine Russian vodka. He wouldn't drink anything else and downed it by the tumblerful.

Even so he knew everything he was doing.

Others might become loose-tongued but not Vladimir.

"Vot do you think of the guffernmint?" he would slyly ask as the evening wore on. "Vot is going to hoppen in the next electshoon?"

It was always somewhat disturbing to find out that he knew a lot more about local politics and history than most of the people who were born and raised in the country.

About this time I was doing some work for New Zealand's Social Crediters and Vladimir completely unnerved me by giving me a complete and accurate resume of the theories of the Socred founder, Major C. H. Douglas.

"I haff read his books," he explained.

* * *

VLADIMIR BEGAN deluging me with Communist literature, magazines and books—always rolled so that anyone could see at a glance what they were. It was highly embarrassing.

"Here is a good book for you," he said one day. "And it voss written before the revolution."

I glanced through it later and sure enough it was pre-revolution stuff—all about the miserable life the peasants led under the brutal, sadistic rule of the Czars.

When the Bolshoi Ballet came to town Vladimir sent us a gilt edged invitation to a Russian embassy cocktail party. It was a gala affair, even if a little spooky.

There was one notable incident.

"Well, hi!" exclaimed the wife of an American diplomat we also knew. Then, in those piercing tones that carry to every corner of a room, she said:

"Isn't it just terrible, all these Reds living the life of Riley while back in Russia those millions of poor, dominated people, all the time being told to do this, and to do that. Well, it was sure nice seeing you but I've gotta go. Our ambassador has told us we have to circulate at these affairs."

* * *

I ONLY SAW Vladimir once more. One day, on a main street, we bumped into one another.

"I'm leaving tomorrow for Russia," he said.

"Gosh, Vladimir," I answered. "That's too bad."

"Vot do you mean?" he shouted. "I am glad and happy to return to the Soviet Union."

"Now don't be silly," I answered. "I merely meant I have been your friend, we probably won't see each other again and that's too bad."

"No, no!" he raved. "You didn't mean that. It is not too bad I return . . . I am glad and happy!"

It was impossible to convince him but he suddenly broke out into a conspiratorial smile.

"Ve vill fight soon, your country and mine," Vladimir told me. "There vill be var. But I vant you to know this. If I voss ordered to shoot you I vouldn't because you have been mine friend. There are always vays of getting around these things."

A few weeks later our mutual friend received a card, mailed from Helsinki. It merely said:

"Leaving tomorrow for Moscow. Please don't write. Goodbye. V."

Coburn Loved Life for 84 Years

Hollywood's Happiest Man Dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Veteran character actor Charles Coburn, 84, died Wednesday in hospital ending one of the longest active careers in show business.

The actor, one of Hollywood's most loved and most renowned oldtimers, succumbed after undergoing throat surgery.

He was married only a year ago last June to a 41-year-old widow.

The sprightly octogenarian Coburn — whose professional acting covered 60 of his years —kept busy almost to the last, enjoying in his jovial, hearty manner everything and everybody within range of his personality.

Coburn wore a monocle nearly half a century because —as few people knew—of the astigmatism in his right eye.

He described his own attitude: "I would stand on my head in the middle of the street—if it would sell tickets."

It was thus with his entire personal outlook; he liked people but he liked to shock them, too. He once said he would be "miserable" if he ever retired.

A friend summed up his impression of the actor by saying: "If Santa Claus ever shaved off his white beard and traded his red outfit for a conservative business suit, it's possible he would be mistaken for Charles Coburn."

* * *

CHARLES COBURN
. . . sexy Santa

His versatility, however, was his chief asset. He did everything from the classics in opera to the "bumps" in the 1942 film, "The More the Merrier," for which he won an Oscar.

He liked any sport "that's well done," and at the age of 70 took up harness racing actively by driving his own horses in workouts with a sulky.

He openly admitted he was an admirer of "fine women" as well.

"Don't you believe that beauty and charm are the exclusive property of youth, my boy," he said. "Like smooth brandy, sex appeal improves with age."

His favorite recreations, he often confided, were "horse races, poker and jelly beans." His aversions included "over-dignified people and non-professional actors and actresses."

New Ontario Indian Village For Tourists—Not Purists

GEORGINA ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—Ojibway Indians on this Lake Simcoe island reservation are set to open up a model village that should please the tourists if not the purists.

Charles (Bud) Big Canoe planned and organized the building of the village.

The opening ceremony will start with the placing of a totem pole, a form of art developed exclusively by Pacific Coast tribes.

Bud, son of Chief Lorenzo Big Canoe, plans to welcome visitors in a war bonnet with a seven-foot tail of feathers—a style of headgear worn on the Prairies but never in the forests of old Ontario.

B.C. Blazes Defiant

Not All Fires Rained Out

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Rain came to the aid of firefighters in most parts of B.C. Wednesday but the big, timber-rich Kamloops forest district still had two giant blazes raging out of control.

There were few showers in the Horsefly sector where a 30,000-acre blaze code-named Vunder and a 15,000-acre fire called Vast were still defying efforts to contain them.

SURROUNDED

However a fire called Von, covering some 12,000 acres in the same area, was surrounded by fireguards. So is a 20,000-acre blaze called Vert.

District forester W. C. Phillips said: "Anything the weatherman supplies to us in the way of rain is many times more beneficial than suppression crews and water bombers."

LOOKING UP

He said that despite the two big out-of-control fires, things are looking better than for some time. Only eight new fires were reported in the Kamloops district overnight — mostly "sleepers" caused by lightning strikes some days ago.

In the big Vancouver district, the hazard remains high to extreme despite some rain. Three new fires were reported for a total of 433 but none were uncontrollable.

BIGGEST ONE

In Newfoundland, the fast-burning Dunn's River-Swift Current fire on the southeast coast mushroomed into the biggest single fire covering nearly 1,000 square miles of some of Newfoundland's richest, thickest and most densely growing spruce forests.

Deputy Resources Minister Stuart Peters reported after an aerial survey that nearly 2,500 square miles of forest land has been ravaged by the fires which began in early June.

ALMOST 2,500

An army of soldier and civilian firefighters, numbering close to 2,500, are battling desperately to keep the two main fires apart.

Blaming IWA 'Goad'

ST. JOHN'S (CP) — Esau Thoms, president of the Newfoundland Federation of Labor, said Wednesday a statement by Premier Smallwood which linked the IWA with Newfoundland's forest fires "could have only been meant to incite people who believe such nonsense."

WORST RASH

Mr. Smallwood said last week many Newfoundlanders believed the IWA was responsible for the worst rash of forest fires to hit the province.

Mr. Thoms said the premier's remark was "just as silly as if I stated many Newfoundlanders believed that the government started the fires to have an excuse not to build a third paper mill."

MANY YEARS

The province has been trying for many years to interest capital in establishing a third pulp mill in the province.

"In my opinion the premier, having tried all avenues legal and illegal to bar the IWA, now would capitalize on the fires to throw popular opinion against the IWA," Mr. Thoms said.

Groom's Sister Designs Wedding Gown for Bride

Miss Marion Leslie Stewart and Mr. David Stanley Spilsbury exchanged wedding vows and rings in a morning ceremony in St. Mary's Anglican Church recently. Canon F. Pike officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brown, North Vancouver, was charmingly gowned in a white chiffon and peau de soie bridal dress designed by the groom's sister, Mrs. F. McLeod. Styled with a classic neckline, short sleeves and full skirt en train, the gown was completed with a chapel veil caught to a headdress of seed pearls. She carried white roses and ivy in her bouquet. Her pearl necklace was the groom's gift.

Maid of honor, Miss Gail Jones, and bridesmaids, Miss Kathleen Brown and Miss Ann Brown, sisters of the bride, wore floral cotton frocks with silk organza overskirts. They carried [illegible] chrysanthemums, with matching headdresses.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Spilsbury, 1631 Garnet Avenue, had Mr. Brian Lindsay as best man. Ushers were the groom's nephews, Mr. Stephen Trace and Mr. Russell Trace.

Guests were received after the ceremony at a reception in the Saltaire Room at Holyrood House, where mauve and white gladiolus and chrysanthemums were decoration. Mr. Frank Thorne proposed the toast to the bride, his niece.

Leaving for a motor trip to California, the bride wore an apricot-toned suit with bone accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Spilsbury will live at 1165 Hadfield Avenue.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin, Ladner; Mrs. Martin McLennan, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ross with Don and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ross and Alan and Mrs. Norman Jones of Port Alberni.

Scarlet Tunics of RCMP Add Color to Ceremony

The scarlet tunics of the Royal Mounted Police added to the color and ceremony of the wedding service performed recently in St. Matthias Church when Miss Sharon Kathleen Burke became the bride of Const. Harvey Evan Jenkins, RCMP. Rev. A. Cameron of Lundaura officiated.

The bride, daughter of Corp. P. N. Burke, RCMP, and Mrs. Burke, entered the church on the arm of her father, who wore his uniform.

She was charming in a princess style gown of white satin fashioned with a skirt panel of appliqued roses and leaves outlined in gold and silver. Centre of roses were seed pearls. Her elbow length veil held to a coronet of seed pearls and crystals. Talisman roses and freesia were in her crescent shaped bouquet.

Attending the bride were maid of honor, Miss Catherine Sweeney and bridesmaid, Miss Shirley-Anne Jenkins, sister of the groom, in gowns of yellow organza over yellow lace. They wore matching headdresses and carried white carnations and yellow feathered carnations. Flower girl, little Susie Severny, wore a frock of yellow nylon organza, and carried a basket of white carnations and yellow daisies.

Yellow marguerites and pastel stocks decorated Holyrood House for the reception which followed. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake made by the groom's mother. Silver candelabra and silver bud vases holding yellow sweetheart roses decorated the table.

After the reception the newlyweds left for a trip through the United States. For travelling, the new Mrs. Jenkins wore a three-piece grey wool suit with watermelon shoes and bag, white hat and gloves and a white orchid corsage.

When they return, Const. and Mrs. Jenkins will live at Qualicum Beach, where the groom is stationed.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. [illegible], Regina, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cross, Calgary, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. G. West, Vancouver, and Mrs. G. Cummings, Dawson Creek.

Mother Comes from Germany To Attend Son's Wedding

Seven attendants in pastel gowns entered Queen of Peace Church with bride Miss Elizabeth Maude (Betty) Bone recently for her marriage to Mr. Hilary Kallrath.

Capt. Ganong officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bone, 361 Burnside Road West, and the son of Mrs. A. Kallrath of Germany, and the late Mr. Kallrath. Mrs. Kallrath travelled from Germany to attend her son's wedding.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie in princess style with full skirt, lily-point sleeves and sweetheart neckline edged in lace. A lace train drifted from the waist of the gown. Her veil misted from a dainty pearl tiara. She wore the groom's gift, a gold cross and chain, and carried orchids and stephanotis.

Hawaii Calls Two Teen-Agers

Favorite reading matter of two young Victorians . . . travel folders.

Eleanor Whitehead, 18, and Shirley Perkins, 17, are looking ahead to a winter holiday in Hawaii. They plan to sail on the P & O liner Canberra from Vancouver early in February, spend two weeks at the Moana Hotel in Hawaii, then fly home. This may seem rather advanced planning, but they are girls who have one thought in mind . . . travel.

They just recently returned to Victoria after a three-week hiking trip that took them as far east as Buffalo, New York.

They headed out with a minimum of baggage (they travelled mostly in shorts and shirts), hitchhiked to Sidney and took the ferry to Tsawwassen. Then they were really on their way.

They hiked through Washington State, then up through Canada, going as far north as North Bay in Ontario, then down to Niagara Falls, before heading for Buffalo.

They shopped, saw shows, visited relatives and generally saw the country. They've started young to pamper an urge to travel, and after the Hawaii trip, both agree that Europe is next.

Pat McGovern Bride Of Alfred Lalonde

Patricia M. (Pat) McGovern and Mr. Alfred Nelson Lalonde exchanged vows and wedding rings and Father Maurice Costello celebrated the nuptial mass in St. Patrick's Church on Saturday morning.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. McGovern, Lee Avenue, and the late Mr. Thomas McGovern, Glasgow, Scotland, was given in marriage by Mr. John Martin.

Her wedding gown was of white silk taffeta, Elizabethan style with the skirt slightly entrain and a coronet held her short, full veil. She carried a missal, sent from Scotland by her grandmother, and a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. For "something old" she wore a 200 year old gold bracelet and other jewelry was a dress ring set with emeralds, her birthstone, a gift from the groom.

Miss Gerri McGovern was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Lianne Catt, bridesmaid. They wore dresses of embossed nylon taffeta. The little flower girl, four-year-old Kathy Seymour, was dressed in white nylon. Attendants carried bouquets of pink, blue and yellow carnations, respectively.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Lalonde, Bay Street, had Mr. Jack Seymour as best man. Mr. Norman Dobbyn showed guests to the pews.

Mrs. Leslie Gill played traditional organ music.

A reception was held at Holyrood House where floral decorations were baskets of gladiolus. The bride's table, decorated with red roses, was centred with a three-tiered cake made by the groom's mother. Mr. Arnold Bailey proposed the toast.

The new Mrs. Lalonde wore an Italian wool two toned beige suit with moss green accessories and apricot rose corsage when they left to spend a honeymoon in Washington and Oregon.

When Should She Start to Wear a Bra?
. . . probably between 11 and 16. No two children develop at the same speed. When her figure first begins to look more rounded . . . more feminine, she is a between-ager and it is time to start thinking about a bra.
By giving her a bra AS SOON AS HER FIGURE STARTS TO DEVELOP, you can help your daughter grow up to have a firm, perfectly shaped bust. The gentle support of a correctly-fitting bra safeguards her future figure beauty.

Home Grown Yeast

It's hard to believe that it wasn't until the latter part of the 19th century that yeast could be bought in stores. Early North American settlers had to grow their own yeast, starting with a small amount given them by a generous neighbor. Each time bread was made a bit of the starter was used. Those lucky enough to develop a good yeast starter treasured it, and often gave part of it to their daughters when they married.

Doughnuts have gone glamorous and the secret of their success is an instant pudding mix.

* * *

Pudding Mix Adds Glamor to Doughnuts

Here's the answer to that ever recurring question of what's for dessert?" Plain doughnuts filled and royally frosted with instant pudding mix make a bright and inexpensive dish for simple or elaborate entertaining. Banana cream is the instant pudding used in this recipe, although other flavors may be substituted.

BANANA CREAM-FILLED DOUGHNUTS

Yield—12 to 15 doughnuts

Half pint (1¼ cups) rich cream, 1 cup cold milk, 1 package (approx. 3¼ ounces) banana cream-flavored instant pudding mix, 12 to 15 ring doughnuts.

Combine cream, milk and banana cream-flavored instant pudding mix in a bowl. Beat 1 minute. Allow to stand until the mixture is thick enough to hold its shape—about 5 minutes.

Meantime, split doughnuts horizontally. Put the halves together again with a generous filling of the thickened banana cream mixture.

Filled Doughnuts may be finished in any of the following ways:

1. Frost complete doughnuts with pudding, leaving a hole in centre. Decorate top with toasted almond halves or chocolate sprinkles.

2. Spread pudding on top of doughnuts and decorate with shaved or grated chocolate, chocolate chips, candied orange peel, banana slices, thin round chocolate mints or chopped pecans.

3. Cut top slice of doughnut into 2 sections. Insert sections part way into filling at an angle to give a butterfly effect. Spread additional filling between outer edge of doughnut layers.

4 Spoon pudding into pastry tube fitted with a small rosette tube. Press pudding through the tube to make an attractive design on top of doughnut.

Hold Bread in Teeth

Bread in your kitchen cupboard may often be a very useful first aid in cooking. If tears pour down your cheeks the next time you peel onions, hold a crust of bread between your teeth and see if you don't do the job dry-eyed.

When the budget needs stretching . . . or unexpected company appears . . . make a bread stuffing, seasoned with onion and poultry seasoning. Use this stuffing to enlarge portions of baked fish, chops or roasts.

At other times, if a fluffy omelette becomes deflated, cut it up and add a few more freshly beaten eggs and cook like scrambled eggs. Then serve the eggs on crusty bread slices spread liberally with parsley butter.

If the bread becomes stale, freshen it this easy way. Sprinkle it lightly with water, place in a paper bag and set it in a moderate oven, preheated to 350 degrees, until the bread is heated through.

Household Hints

Use a cutting board when chopping or slicing food. This helps keep a keen cutting edge on the knife blade — and it's

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a practical nurse for a widower about 55. I do the light housework, the cooking, and I give him his medicine. He was in an industrial accident three months ago.

At first my patient was very pleasant but now that his health is improving he's getting frisky. I'm 30 and happily married to a nice fellow. If he knew how this old gaffer lunged after me he'd make me quit. The company my patient works for pays him full salary all the time he is recuperating. They also pay me, and I might add they pay me well.

I love my work and this assignment is ideal because the man lives close to our apartment. I'd hate to quit, but now that he's getting stronger I don't know how much longer I can manage him.—S. L.

Dear S. L.: Tell the old gaffer that a guy who is well enough to chase the nurse is well enough to go back to work, and if he doesn't behave himself you'll phone his boss and tell him so.

When you make your position clear he'll simmer down.

• • •

Dear Ann: Two weeks ago a family with two teen-age girls moved into the apartment directly above us. The radio goes on at 7:30 a.m. in one room and the record player starts in another room—about 15 minutes later. Somebody up there plays the piano, too.

The other night I was sure they must be pounding carpet tacks into the floor but my husband said they were dancing.

I hate to be a complainer but I don't know how much longer we can take it. Would it be best to go to the landlord or shall I speak to the mother of the girls? My sister had the same problem and she went to the landlord. From then on the noise was twice as bad. I'd appreciate your advice.—ASPIRIN HAPPY.

Dear Aspirin Happy: If you haven't welcomed the new family to the building by all means do so. Bring a cake. Make sure they know you are the lady downstairs. After a friendly visit you'll find them far more amenable to suggestion. The adage is old but it still works . . . "You can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar."

• • •

To learn the knack of talking comfortably with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Keystone" clear kiln-dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

TV TALK

It is a pleasure to welcome back Channel 4's public service program, Challenge. It starts its second season at 6 p.m. Sept. 10.

Regular panelists, Raphael H. Levine, rabbi of the Temple de Hirsch; Dr. Martin Goslin, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, and Father William Treacy, director of the Seattle Catholic Information Centre, will be back again.

The three religious leaders discuss a variety of subjects on the show, each from his own church's viewpoint.

ONLY THE NOSE ... NO'S

If your nose is close
To the grindstone rough
And you hold it down
There long enough,
In time you'll say
There's no such thing
As a babbling Goodstream,
Or birds that sing.
These three will all
Your world compose,
Just YOU, the STONE,
And your silly old NOSE.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

When two good players overbid there is often a psychological explanation. The reason may be supreme confidence in the partnership's card play, but more often it is based on contempt for the opposition. Playing against two "little old ladies" it may seem reasonable to inflate the values actually held by a couple of points, to allow for likely misdefence. But when both players make allowances in this way the contract may soar much too high.

| 2 ♡ | Pass | 2 N.T. | Pass |
| 3 N.T. | All Pass | | |

Opening lead: ♢ Q

The first two bids were normal, and South was then right to bid one spade. He should not allow the thought that he is making a free bid to deter him from showing a useful major suit. North placed rather too much faith in the free one spade bid when he made a reverse of two hearts. Two clubs would have been a comfortable contract if he had selected that as a rebid.

The only faint justification for the last two bids was that the little old ladies in the East-West seats looked easy meat, but this calculation came unstuck. North-South ignored the useful rule that apart from high-card points and distribution points you can only count one old lady point if she is on your left. The bidding suffered from a duplication of old ladies.

South won the diamond lead, fearing a heart shift which would leave him awkwardly placed. Declarer finessed the ten of clubs on the board, forcing East's ace. East realised that South must hold the diamonds, and rightly refrained from cashing her two winners which would have given South a trick and also squeezed West. Instead she returned a small spade to dummy's ace. Declarer cashed the king of clubs and tried the club jack in the hope of crashing the ninespot, but in vain.

After the contract had failed, South had something to say about North's bidding, but North hit back with a telling comment on the play. "If you finesse the eight of clubs on trick two," he said, "you are home if West has the nine and at least one honor. You make two spades, two hearts, three clubs and two diamonds." North was right in a way, although the defence can still beat the hand if East cashes just one top diamond and then shifts to a spade.

BIG GEORGE! by Virgil Partch

"Good morning, Sir. Is the lady of the house in?"

Cat Survives 12-Floor Fall

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Pat Richards, afraid her cat Samson had been killed when he toppled from a 12th-floor apartment window sill Tuesday, was mystified when she found paw prints three inches deep in grass below. Samson turned up later with only bruises to show for his tumble.

Foreign Aid Bill Approved in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate-House conferees gave their final approval yesterday to a $4,200,000,000 foreign aid bill that would give President Kennedy the power he sought to make development loans over a five-year period.

But the compromise rejected Kennedy's request for authority to obtain loan funds through treasury borrowing. He would be required to come back to Congress every year for the money.

Population of the Athens, Greece, area increased 500,000 to a total of 1,878,000 from 1951 to 1961.

Driver Chooses—Escapes

In this older model black convertible, 17-year-old David Charles Mayes of Duncan had a narrow escape when his lights suddenly went out as he drove along Trans-Canada Highway. He said he had choice of keeping on road without lights or going onto gravel shoulder. He went a little too far and flipped car on its side.—(Cowichan photo.)

Lawyers Like Trap

Radar All Right

That glassy-eyed nemesis of the speeding motorist -- the hidden radar trap -- may not be cricket but it's a good way to catch low-flying drivers.

That was the majority opinion expressed yesterday by city lawyers asked to comment on a Manitoba news story that many legal men are against use of the traps.

"Radar traps are sneaky," said one. "Let's be above board in these things. They should be used, but out in the open."

"Catch 'em any way you can—just so long as it's legal," snapped another.

The highway lawman's game of "hide the black box" may not give the motorist an even break but most lawyers suggest he doesn't deserve one.

"I'd raise a frightful rumpus if I was caught by one of those things myself," said another. "But I still think all's fair in highway safety."

Still another said motorists deserved to be caught if they tramped on the throttle only when they believed they wouldn't be.

While most agreed the peeping electronic optic was a good thing, almost all threw up their hands at the futility of trying to defend a case prosecuted by an officer armed with radar evidence.

"What do you do when the officer says your man was driving at 71.325 miles an hour?" they ask.

U.S. Missile Blows Apart

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In a spectacular failure which resembled an exploding munitions dump, a Minuteman missile blew apart Wednesday as it was launched for the first time from an underground silo. No one was injured.

Kidnappers Rob Driver

TORONTO (UPI) — A Toronto truck driver was kidnapped Wednesday and robbed of $500 by two men.

John Hutchinson, 23, driver for a bakery vending company, said two men jumped him as he was leaving a plant. They then drove him two blocks and forced him out, driving off with a cash box.

Quiet Ucluelet Becoming Boom Town Thanks to Big Iron Mine, Hydro Line

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Outdoors Editor

UCLUELET—The B.C. Power Commission and the Maggie Lake iron mine are transforming this usually-serene west coast fishing village into a typical rip-roaring B.C. boom town.

The B.C. Power Commission has started its crash program to build a $2,700,000 hydro transmission line to Ucluelet and Tofino by March 1.

* * *

Main purpose of the line is to provide power for Noranda's new $7,000,000 Maggie Lake iron mine near Ucluelet which has commitments to start shipping iron concentrates to Japan in March.

"The 66,000-volt line, which will feed power from B.C. Hydro's Ash River development, will also bring power to 500 Tofino and Ucluelet residents now served by a diesel power plant at Tofino airport.

* * *

The Maggie Lake mine development has created a hive of activity in the Ucluelet area.

The mine is expected to increase the population of this area, which now has about 1,200 persons, by 50 per cent, including mine workers, their families and those who move in with allied industries.

* * *

A complete auto court of one single and 10 double units has been transported lock, stock and barrel to Ucluelet by barge from Vancouver and will soon be used for dwellings.

Another contractor has started to build 30 new houses in Ucluelet which already is filled with mine workers.

* * *

Eight transmission line location survey crews and five clearing survey crews, 30 men in all, now are in the field for B.C. Hydro.

Power Commission expects to have 150 men logging 1,500,000 board feet of timber for the transmission line and another 70 men working on line construction.

* * *

Macmillan and Bloedel will log 18,000,000 board feet of timber along its holdings adjacent to the Alberni-Tofino road, to clear the right of way for the power line.

The job is rush, rush, rush, to meet the mining company deadline.

* * *

Construction has started on a 7¼-mile road from the Maggie Lake mine, near Kennedy Lake, to Toquart Bay where a $1,000,000 wharf and facilities are being built.

A $3,000,000 concentrating plant and mill operation, located at the mine and wharf, is scheduled to be in operation by the end of January.

* * *

Some 130 men now are working in the big open pit mine, clearing away topsoil to uncover the magnetite ore so actual mining can start. Ore will be stockpiled until mill and concentrator are ready.

A score of giant Euclid trucks, shovels and diamond drill rigs are working two shifts so the shipping deadline can be reached.

* * *

It is expected the mine will have enough ore to last at least 10 years and from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of concentrate will be shipped daily.

The iron claim is more than ½ square mile but the actual open pit where mining will take place is pear-shaped and about 1,500 feet long and 1,200 feet wide.

* * *

It will be mined to sea level—a depth of 450 feet on the high side and 250 feet on the low side.

The magnetite ore will be taken out of the mine in chunks, sometimes four to five feet across. This will be crushed at the mine into about ⅝-inch rocks and non-magnetic rock will be discarded.

* * *

The fine concentrate will be taken to the Toquart Bay wharf site, where it will be ground to sand size and undergo more magnetic separation before shipment.

Between 120 and 150 men will be employed when the mine is in full operation.

* * *

Rain may prove to be a bugbear to the operation because this area has about the highest rainfall in B.C.

Last January some 32.81 inches of rain fell and in February it was 50.22 inches. Rain in the bottom of the pit would be a nuisance.

* * *

Jim Stevens, transmission line project engineer for B.C. Hydro, said the line is a good project from a utility point of view because, without the demand for power from the mining company, Ucluelet and Tofino could have waited for years for the more economical hydro power.

If B.C. Hydro had been unable to deliver power by March the mining company would have installed its own power system.

* * *

There will be stepped-down transformers at Ash River, Maggie Lake and the Tofino-Ucluelet road junction.

The transmission line will generally follow the Alberni-Tofino road and much of the scenic timber along the Taylor and Kennedy Rivers will be felled for the right of way.

Much of the scenic value of this route had already been spoiled by logging by MacMillan and Bloedel along the narrow river banks in their tree farm licence.

Mr. Stevens said that in some instances the power line has been diverted from the river to preserve scenic spots on park reserve property.

MacMillan and Bloedel said they would continue with their beautification projects along the river but some planned replanting will be curtailed because of the power line.

Construction of the line is a race against the weather.

"In winter snow gets to a depth of 20 feet in Sutton Pass, we must have that part completed before Christmas," Mr. Stevens said.

Historic Date For Islanders

PENDER ISLAND — Tomorrow will mark the official takeover of the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. (1951) Ltd. of Ganges by the provincial government and representatives from all the islands concerned will journey to Swartz Bay to witness the brief ceremony.

When the Motor Princess reaches Swartz Bay from the islands at 8.55 a.m. Premier W. A. C. Bennett and party will board the vessel, along with Gavin Mouat, president of the ferry company, and the rest of the shareholders from Salt Spring Island.

When the official acts are concluded, the Motor Princess, as well as the other ferries in the fleet, will be under the direct control and operation of the B.C. Toll-Authority ferry system.

Islanders have long looked forward to this day and to a steadily improving transportation system, and feel Sept. 1, 1961 will mark an historic date in the future of the Gulf Islands.

Killer Flees Prison

TORONTO (CP) — A convicted murderer escaped from Kingston Penitentiary Wednesday by forcing a guard at knifepoint to drive him to Toronto.

Keith Baylis, 30, who was also serving time for armed robbery, released guard John Robson in a west-end park.

FAKED SICK

Police said Baylis was one of eight prisoners picking apples and tomatoes near the penitentiary, when he "faked sick."

He pulled a knife while Robson was driving him to hospital. The guard was not harmed.

DANGEROUS

Police are hunting Baylis throughout the city. They described him as extremely dangerous.

Baylis was convicted Nov. 18, 1955, of killing finance company manager Keith Jones during a holdup.

MERCY STAND

The jury recommended mercy "on the grounds that the prisoner throughout his life has been abnormal in that he may be classed as an extreme psychopath."

Doctor Slain In Bed

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (UPI) —A prominent local physician was found murdered in his bed early Wednesday.

Dr. Stephen Morton, 44, died of shotgun wounds in the stomach. He was pronounced dead at Port Arthur General Hospital, where he served as chief of pediatrics.

Port Arthur police chief William Allen said the death was "definitely homicide," but added no arrests have yet been made.

Police were called to the Morton home by the doctor's wife Prudence at 5.20 a.m. The doctor died a few minutes after police arrived.

A native of England, Dr. Morton came to Canada in 1953 to practice at the hospital for sick children in Toronto. He moved to Port Arthur a year later. He had four children.

Crime Fight Stepped Up In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — A program designed to give Montreal police one of the best communications systems in North America swings into action Friday.

Described by new police chief Adrien Robert as indispensable to Montreal's struggle against crime, the system makes possible almost instant co-ordination of police action in part or all of Montreal.

The new teletype and dial system, designed by CN and CP Communications, enables one of the city's 23 police stations to advise headquarters within seconds of, for instance, a car speeding away from the scene of a robbery.

Headquarters can immediately mobilize forces from other stations, suburbs and even provincial police to throw a tight ring around escape routes.

North Hides Lost Fliers From Search

EDMONTON (UPI) — Five RCAF planes and at least two civilian planes continued the search Wednesday for a Cessna 180 plane missing with three men aboard in the Northwest Territories.

The float-equipped plane has not been heard from since it left Yellowknife early Sunday. The hunt was initiated when the craft failed to return on Monday night.

The three men aboard have been unofficially identified as Joe Herriman, the pilot, and passengers Blake Keller and Lorne Wigglesworth.

The Cessna was scheduled to fly to Pointe Lake, about 190 miles northeast of Yellowknife, and from there to Coppermine 217 miles away, before returning to its home base.

SOVIET DECISION TO RESUME A-TESTS CALLED HAZARD TO WORLD BY KENNEDY

* * *

'Mankind's Desire Ignored by Reds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Wednesday night accused the Soviets of posing a hazard to every human being throughout the world by resuming atomic tests.

Kennedy ordered Ambassador Arthur Dean recalled from the nuclear test ban talks to see what the United States should do.

In a White House statement, Kennedy left open the question of what decision the United States will make about resuming nuclear test explosions now that the Soviets plan to begin again.

The United States and Britain have been under self-imposed moratoriums since the Geneva talks on a treaty to outlaw tests started nearly three years ago, in November, 1958.

'DEEPEST CONCERN'

Kennedy's statement, issued about three hours after word reached Washington of the Soviet decision, said:

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing will be met with deepest concern and resentment throughout the world.

HAZARD PRESENTED

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing presents a hazard to every human being throughout the world by increasing the dangers of nuclear fallout.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing is in utter disregard of the desire of mankind for a decrease in the arms race.

"The pretext offered by the announcement for Soviet resumption of weapons testing is the very crisis which they themselves have created by threatening to disturb the peace which has existed in Germany and Berlin.

The purpose and motivation

Berlin 'Peril' Faced

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday described the situation in Berlin as "fraught with peril." He said the United States is determined to convince Russia that the West means to defend its rights there.

Kennedy, at a press conference, announced these measures for dealing with the crisis in Berlin:

FURTHER STEP

1. A meeting of the Western Big Four foreign ministers to begin in Washington Sept. 14. He said this would represent a further step in the process of continuing consultation among the Big Four "in light of the Soviet challenge."

2. The appointment of retired Gen. Lucius Clay as his personal representative in Berlin. He called Clay, who masterminded the 1948-49 airlift which thwarted the Communists' ground blockade of Berlin, a man of outstanding ability and experience.

'ALL CHANNELS'

Kennedy reiterated that the U.S. would use all available channels to ascertain if a peaceful settlement can be reached on the problems of Europe and in particular Germany.

"I do not see that there could be any solution, which would serve the world, on Berlin by force," Kennedy said.

Defiance of Military Mounting in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's top military leaders ruled Wednesday that leftist vice-president Joao Goulart must not return to Brazil "in the present situation" and attempt to take over the presidency. (See earlier story Page 8).

Their edict came as defiance of the military was reported to be mounting among legislators engaged in debate in an attempt to decide the nation's leadership and as Goulart was flying toward Brazil.

The military manifesto referred to the "absolute inconvenience in the present situation of Goulart's return to the country."

A 21-year-old naval rating, Melvin Smith of HMCS Assiniboine, was in only fair condition last night after he fell from this car when it struck a jackknifing trailer truck at Johnson Street underpass. ## Collision Hurts Sailor 'He Shot Out Like Jet'

Hurled to the pavement when an empty flat-deck truck trailer jack-knifed and slammed into the car in which he was a passenger, a young naval rating suffered severe injuries yesterday afternoon.

Melvin Smith, 21, of HMCS Assiniboine, whose parents live in Penticton, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He sustained a fracture of the skull and other undetermined injuries. His condition last night was fair.

TORN CLOTHING

Amazingly, David Charles Eastick, 3983 Blenkinsop, driver of the car, escaped with bruises and torn clothing although his side of the car was almost demolished.

The collision occurred immediately under the railway overpass on Johnson Street west of the bridge.

Eastick was driving towards Victoria and the truck, driven by Robert Skillings, 3446 Wascana, driver for Victoria Van and Storage, was heading towards Esquimalt.

Coming around the bend into the underpass of the road, the empty truck trailer skidded to the left.

Robert Irwin, 1350 Rockland, was driving out onto Johnson from Songhees.

"The trailer swung across the road," he said, "and there was a terrific crash. The navy lad didn't have anywhere to go.

"I saw a body shoot out of the car's door like a jet and hit the road. I hurried over and tried to make him comfortable."

SLAMMED BACK

Eastick's car was slammed backward about 25 feet in the crash, pinned between the truck cab and the trailer. Its entire left side was crushed in and there was no space at all on the driver's side between dashboard and seat.

"I don't know how I wasn't hurt," Eastick said later.

OUT THE DOOR

"The other chap went out the door the instant we hit, and I guess I was thrown over to his side."

Traffic was diverted from both ends of the bridge for almost an hour before the car and truck could be cleared away.

Forest Ban Over Soon?

Forest service officials said last night that in view of moderate rains which fell over most parts of Vancouver Island yesterday the total woods closure on the Island's east coast would be reviewed "within 24 hours."

Showers were forecast for this morning.

Soldier Gets Six Months For Long Hair

SEATTLE (AP)—A Washington soldier was sentenced to six months at hard labor and fined $420 at a court martial for failure to obey his commanding officer's order to get a haircut, it was reported yesterday.

An army spokesman was quoted as saying Pte. Theodore Fagin had been warned several times to get a haircut but failed to do so.

"He was disobedient," the army spokesman said. "Disobeying an order, even when told to get a haircut, is serious business."

Shocked Nations Warned Of Super-Powerful Bombs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union stunned the world last night by announcing it will resume experimental explosions of nuclear weapons because of pressure from "imperialist countries."

The Soviet announcement warned that Russian scientists have worked out projects "for creating a series of super-powerful nuclear bombs" with a yield equivalent of up to 100,000,000 tons of TNT.

And, the announcement added rockets similar to those used to boost the Soviet Union's two astronauts into orbit around the earth are capable of delivering the new bombs to any point on earth.

MEASURES TAKEN

The announcement—certain to make the United States review its suspension of nuclear tests since Aug. 22, 1958—was transmitted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Soviet scientists have taken every measure to minimize the harmful consequences of nuclear fallout on living organisms, Tass said.

'OPEN SECRET'

Canada's official policy is against nuclear weapon testing.

The Soviet announcement declared:

"It is an open secret that the United States is standing on the threshhold of carrying out underground nuclear tests.

'CONCEALED FORM'

"It is obvious that such tests, even if it asserted that they were conducted for peaceful purposes, are nothing else but a concealed form of perfecting the available nuclear weapons or working on its new types."

The Russians announced suspension of nuclear weapons tests March 31, 1958. Dwight Eisenhower, then president, announced the following Aug. 22 that U.S. tests had been suspended.

GENEVA TALKS

The United States, Russia and Britain have been negotiating a permanent test ban in Geneva since Oct. 31, 1958. Both the United States and the Soviet Union threatened to resume nuclear testing if the negotiations were unsuccessful.

But until now, neither had been willing to risk offending world opinion, particularly among non-aligned nations where opposition to testing has been strong.

'ARMED REBUFF'

"In order to discourage the aggressors from criminal playing with fire it is necessary to make sure that he knows and sees that there is a power in the world which is ready to give an armed rebuff to any encroachment on the independence and security of peace-loving states and that the hand of retribution will reach the aggressor in his own den," the statement said.

'NOT THREATENING'

But, it continued, the Soviet Union is not threatening anyone nor does it intend to attack any nation.

"The Soviet government solemnly declares that the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. will never be the first to resort to arms," it said.

INVASION RECALLED

The announcement explained the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union in 1941 was successful because of the German army's superiority in military equipment.

The Russians swept away the prospects of the Geneva conference in a blast of scorn for the West—and particularly France.

'OBEDIENT TOOL'

The Kremlin statement said "the entire course of negotiations in Geneva proves that the Western powers pursue the aim of actually legalizing those types of nuclear tests in which they are interested, and of establishing an international control body which would be an obedient tool in their hands.

"Hypocritical statements of representatives of the U.S.A. and Great Britain about the termination of tests and international control have proved to be nothing more than camouflage.

"France, encouraged by the United States and Britain, has been carrying out nuclear tests already for a long time in spite of warnings by the U.S.S.R. that it would be forced to resume tests if

Hell Bombs Outmatch U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear bombs in the 25, 30, 50 and 100,000,000-ton size, spoken of in the Moscow announcement that Russia plans to resume nuclear testing, are much bigger than anything the United States is supposed to have.

In atomic weapon parlance, a one-ton bomb has the explosive power equivalent to one ton of TNT. The first atomic bomb of the Second World War, which devastated the Japanese city of Hiroshima, was 20,000 tons, or only one-five-thousandths the power of a 100,000,000-ton bomb.

RCMP Rouse Chinese Ire

TORONTO (TNS) — A meat-cleaver in Winnipeg became a sign this week of the unrest in Canada's troubled Chinese community of 70,000.

Chinese communities across the country are taking a long, hard look at the events that led up to the attack by a Chinese-Canadian on a special RCMP officer last Friday.

VICTORIA, TOO

Special meetings have been called in Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Chinese in Victoria, Ottawa and Montreal are expected to follow suit.

Toronto's Chinese said the community will "fully investigate" the meat-cleaver incident.

Const. Sang Tuen Wong, on loan from Hong Kong police to help RCMP crack a Canada-wide Chinese immigration racket, suffered a four-inch scalp wound when he sought to question a Winnipeg restaurant employee.

LITTLE FELLOW

A Chinese Community Centre official in Toronto said:

"They've been pushing Canada's Chinese too far. They've been going after the little fellow who doesn't want to involve his own family here.

"The government originally promised it was launching investigations to get at the ringleaders of the underground illegal movement of Chinese."

One of the most acute and best-informed Ottawa observers of the national scene today becomes a direct contributor to the editorial page of The Daily Colonist, where his column will regularly appear.

He is Arthur M. Blakely, parliamentary chief of bureau and columnist of The Gazette, Montreal. At 46, Mr. Blakely has had a wealth of successful experience in Canadian journalism, with time out for wartime service in the RCAF, and has been parliamentary correspondent of The Gazette since 1946.

Many Colonist readers who have not previously had the pleasure of reading his column will know him, nevertheless, through his appearances as guest commentator and panelist on television and radio.

English Penny Wins Parking Case

NANAIMO (CP) — Clifford Williams got an overtime parking charge tossed out of court Wednesday with a defence that could have widespread repercussions elsewhere.

He contended, and Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts agreed, that "pennies" and "nickels" are not legal tender in Canada. Yet, he said, these were the terms used on Nanaimo's parking meters.

RCMP tagged Williams' car for overtime parking July 14 beside a meter reading: "12 minutes for each penny—60 minutes for one nickel."

Williams produced in court an English penny—much too large to go into any meter.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts described Williams' defence as "novel" and called a half-hour adjournment while court officials read law on the subject and police produced a meter official in court to confirm the wording.

After determining that Nanaimo's parking bylaw wording does not confirm to that on the meters—it uses the term "cents" instead of "pennies," the magistrate said pennies and nickels are not covered in the description of legal tender under the Currency Act.

He then dismissed the charge with some advice to city fathers.

They should, he suggested, make haste to amend their bylaw to conform to the reading on the meters.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 24—Breakfast guests were razing towering stacks of wheat cakes in Max Hirsch's cottage beside the King Ranch barn, and in the adjoining room where Miss Mary Frost does the stable's paperwork, a calico kitten named Sheila was riding the carriage of the portable while Miss Frost tried to type a letter. It was, in other words, a perfectly normal rainy morning under the trees beyond the back stretch.

"So Maris has fifty," a man said, "but how about last night's games? Anybody hear the scores?"

"The Giants win another," a guy said, "and they're just four games out, a game and a half behind the Dodgers, who got licked again by St. Louis. Cincinnati still has a lead of two-and-a-half but they're a game behind L.A. in the lost column.

"The Yankees win with nary a home run. Finley has his man Friday running the Athletics and Frank Lane says Finley is a liar. I think that brings you up to date."

"Who is Friday?" the first man asked. "A baseball man?"

"An insurance man," the other said. "He figures the mortality rate on guys working for Finley."

Everything's Up to Date, Etc.

For a new boy on the ranch, Charles O. Finley, the demon policy pedler who made his stack in the insurance business and bought the Kansas City club, has done an outstanding job of making his presence known, not necessarily favorably. In the space of a few months he has:

(1) Publicly nominated his first manager, Joe Gordon, for distinction as manager of the year.

(2) Fired Joe Gordon.

(3) Denied that it was he who fired Gordon.

(4) Threatened to move the team out of Kansas City ("Maybe they'd want us somewhere else.")

(5) Denied that he ever contemplated moving the team.

(6) Emphatically expressed his satisfaction with and support of Frank Lane, the general manager, and Hank Bauer, Gordon's successor.

(7) Fired Frank Lane without notice in a press conference devoted chiefly to blackguarding the general manager.

(8) Howled from the housetops when criticized in the Kansas City press.

(9) Announced that he was no longer paying the travel expenses of the Kansas City Star's Ernie Mehl and Joe McGuff, critics who say their paper chose to pick up the tab when they accompanied the team out of town.

He Qualifies for Membership

It may be a trifle early to assign the new boy to his proper position in the pantheon of great baseball men, but he already has exhibited one trait which clearly qualifies him for membership in the lodge. Like many others, he is the sort who takes it for granted that, when he makes room for a newspaperman on the team plane, the newspaperman becomes his property.

Though it is far less common now, many newspapers used to let the local ball club pay for the transportation, food, and lodging of correspondents assigned to the team, but the conscientious sports editor would make it clear to a new man on the beat that this arrangement was none of his business and must not deter him from discharging his duties as a reporter.

Not every club owner subscribed to this tacit understanding. "We haul these guys around first class and feed 'em off the fat of the land," some were heard to complain, "and look at the stuff they write about us, the lousy ingrates."

At least one owner told a young reporter to his face: "Write any more stories like that one you had yesterday and you won't be eating free on this club."

The Final Judgement

I never heard of such a case when the newspaperman wasn't quick to suggest what the owner could do with his largesse, and as time went on many papers removed temptation from the magnates' way.

If they continued to let the road secretary book the accommodations, they insisted that the club submit a bill.

Kansas City papers have had relatively little experience with major league owners, so it is possible that no awkward situations arose before Finley came to town. Frank Lane says "The Star" advised him before the season started that it would pay its own way, and that Finley was lying when he spread the impression that he had been lifting the tab.

If it was a lie, its only purpose could have been to embarrass a paper that has charged him with meddling mismanagement. As to the justice of those charges, the public will be the ultimate judge, with the team standings as evidence.

Standby Service

Assist you won't see in box score was provided by outfielder Orlando Cepeda, left, of San Francisco Giants who was close at hand as shortstop Ed Bressoud caught short fly on bat of Milwaukee's Roy McMillan. Giants won, 2-1.—(AP Photofax.)

Vernon's Delay Could Be Costly

Jokers may win the B.C. senior "B" lacrosse championship without firing a shot if the Vernon team doesn't stop bickering over when the series will be played.

That was the warning issued last night by Doug Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Lacrosse Association, after three days' arguing over the series dates.

The series was originally set for Memorial Arena Sunday and Monday. Vernon said it coudn't get a team here Monday and asked that Victoria play at Vernon. Fletcher countered with an offer of Saturday afternoon and Sunday games, and Vernon still hasn't answered, although word was supposed to be here as of 6 p.m. Tuesday.

"They appealed to the B.C. Lacrosse Association and told their own league they couldn't play Monday without saying anything about the offer to play Saturday and Sunday," Fletcher said.

"I've got the backing of the B.C. Lacrosse Association, and if I don't hear by noon Thursday as I'm supposed to, then I'll have no course but to award the series to Jokers by default.

"The Interior association asked the BCLA at the start of the season to have the series played on the lower mainland so its winner could have a trip," he added.

Mounties Just Meet Payroll Obligations

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Mounties, snowed under with debts that date back as far as 1956, are meeting their payroll—but only just.

Ralph Miller, general manager of the Pacific Coast Baseball League club, said Wednesday the club this year has paid $63,000 of $96,000 in back debts.

All spare money was being used to pay back creditors.

He denied reports that the club would have trouble meeting the end-of-the-month payroll of $13,000 but said the money to meet it will come from two bank accounts and some $9,000 that the parent Milwaukee Braves owed the club for such things as their portion of salaries and transportation costs. The Braves have said that the money was being sent.

Miller said the second place club, with attendance so far this season 46,000 higher than for the same period last year, would be showing a profit had it not been for past debts. He said the club made $26,000 last month but attendance this month had fallen slightly as Tacoma made a run-away of first place. He anticipated a crowd of 6,000 at Thursday night's "kids night."

Wednesday's game with Seattle was rained out.

Lots of Help in Future Coming from Minors

The senior club may be having its troubles now, but there seems to be plenty of lacrosse talent for the future being produced in the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association.

A glance at the awards list for the association's wind-up party shows three provincial championships and enough potential Inter-City Lacrosse League stars to have Arnie Ferguson drooling.

Take Allan Mottishaw for instance. He scored 118 goals and had 153 points for Victoria in the midget division. Kelly Jones, playing for Saanich, finished with 83 goals and 105 points.

In the pee wee division there was Bill Majorki with 93 goals and 129 points, Dave Tudor with 84 goals and 115 points, and Frank Alexander with 48 goals and 16 assists.

In the bantam class it was Steve Majorki with 60 goals and 78 points, to win the outstanding player and scoring awards.

Baseball Men Keeping One Eye on Weather

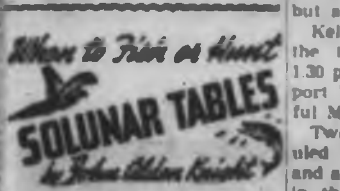
With one eye on the weather and another on the ticket sales, Victoria's senior baseball officials are looking hopefully forward to this weekend's B.C. senior amateur tournament at Royal Athletic Park.

A break from the weather and at the gate are about the only ~~two~~ things needed to make the tournament a cinch success. With four solid, evenly matched clubs entered, the calibre of play seems all but assured.

Kelowna and Terrace open the tournament Saturday at 1.30 p.m., and Victoria's Transport Workers face the powerful Maple Ridge club at 6.00.

Two more games are scheduled at 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday and at least two more Monday in the double-loss elimination tourney.

The matter of a crowd is important from the standpoint of the future of senior baseball in Victoria. For two years the city has had a fine league and few fans. In this tourney officials hope to attract fans to the park who will take a look and remember the calibre of play when it comes to next season.



According to Solunar Tables calculated for this area, the best times for fishing and hunting for today and tomorrow will be as follows (Times shown are Pacific Daylight Time):

Pirates Chill Cincinnati; Yanks Win, Tigers Lose

There's pennant talk in Cincinnati, but they'd better now think about running it up the flagpole just yet. The Reds are having their problems.

Yesterday they saw their lead in the National League shrink to two-and-one-half games. More important they saw star pitcher Bob Purkey take it on the chin for the third straight time.

The Reds ran into Pittsburgh Pirates and a hot Tom Sturdivant, who beat Purkey, 3-1. Meanwhile the second-place

Los Angeles Dodgers were getting another solid effort from Johnny Podres for a 5-2 victory over Chicago, and San Francisco Giants were getting back into third place with a 2-1 win over Milwaukee Braves behind the pitching of Mike McCormick.

Purkey, now 14-12 for the season, had been rapped in his last two appearances. Yesterday he committed three wild pitches, one allowing a run, and was so hard to handle that catcher Darrell Johnson was charged with two passed balls, the first allowing another run.

STURDIVANT HOT

But even on one of his best days, Purkey would have had trouble beating out Sturdivant, who gave up only four hits. He gave up an unearned run in the second inning, a single to Gene Freese to start the third, then retired the next 20 men he faced.

Jerry Lynch and Coleman singled with two out in the ninth, but Sturdivant got Gus Bell on an infield out to retire the side.

PODRES SHINES

Meanwhile the Dodgers were getting some great pitching of their own from Johnny Podres, whose perennial sore back hasn't kept him from piling up a 17-4 record this season.

Podres needed help from Larry Sherry in the seventh inning, but still posted his fourth straight win, 5-2, over Chicago Cubs. Two-run homers by Charley Neal and Norm Sherry gave the Dodgers the edge.

The Giants beat Milwaukee 2-1, getting both their runs and two of their three hits in the fourth inning. Joe Amalfitano doubled, Willie McCovey tripled and Willie Mays forced in the winner with a ground out.

In the American League Mickey Mantle hit his 47th homer and New York Yankees stretched their lead to three games, beating Minnesota, 4-0, while Detroit Tigers were losing, 7-4, to Chicago White Sox.

Mantle's homer came in the seventh inning and left him one game ahead of that pace. Roger Maris, who has 51 homers and is seven games ahead of Ruth, had a run-scoring single in three official trips.

Pitcher Bill Stafford won his 12th in 19 decisions with a four-hit shutout.

The Tigers lost a game, which was bad enough, but they also lost Norm Cash which was immeasurably worse.

Cash, who leads the American League with a .367 average, complained of dizziness and blurred vision and sat out the game. It was not known how long he would be out of action.

Lacrosse Team in Black Despite Dismal Showing

By JIM TAYLOR

Despite the worst season in its history both in the league and at the gate, Victoria's Inter-City Lacrosse League club finished its 1961 season in the black.

Proof of this rather surprising state of affairs was presented at last night's annual meeting, where a partial financial statement was brought out and directors were elected for next year.

There could be no complete financial report, since the club still does not know its share of the gate receipts or the playoff pool. But although there was a total of $1,800 owing in back debts when the season started, there will definitely be a slight surplus with which to begin work on next season's club.

Two main points have still to be decided before plans can be considered for 1962:

- Arnie Ferguson is still undecided whether or not he will return to coach the club.
- The matter of club sponsorship is still very much up in the air.

HE'S RELUCTANT

Ferguson was not at the meeting, but over the weekend he told the Colonist he is rather reluctant to devote so much time to lacrosse again next year, although he would like to continue the rebuilding program he helped start.

The matter of sponsorship was, as expected, one of the main topics of the meeting.

There has been talk of dropping the brewery sponsorship and returning to the old Victoria Shamrocks name. For that matter, it still isn't known whether the brewery wants to carry on after two bad seasons.

DESIRABLE, BUT . . .

Feeling of the players at the moment is that while it might be desirable to go back to being Shamrocks, it wouldn't be worth losing the sponsor's fee.

Some feel that the name Shamrocks might bring back more fans. But it was pointed out that the club would have to average 500 more fans for each of its 15 home games to make up the money lost if the brewery sponsorship does not continue.

For the moment, the matter rests there, pending word of the sponsor's plans.

NEW DIRECTORS

Five new directors were added to last season's executive at the elections. They are Stan Collier, Keith MacKenzie, Stewart Smith, Roy Walley and Tom Jennings.

They replace Wil Wilson, Joe Mitchell and Dave Gray, who resigned due to business pressure.

Boxla Dates All Ready

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dates for the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League final between New Westminster and Vancouver were announced here Wednesday.

The series opens tonight at New Westminster, with the second game at Vancouver next Tuesday. Third game will be played Sept. 7 at New Westminster and the fourth Sept. 11 at Vancouver.

Other dates are Sept. 13 at New Westminster, Sept. 15 at Vancouver and Sept. 16 at New Westminster. These games will be played only if necessary.

The last time New Westminster and Vancouver met in the league final was in 1949.

Gary Smith Wins Match

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Dodd Fischer of Eugene, won medalist honors Wednesday in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association Junior Championships but lost his match.

Fischer and Ron Hagen, Seattle, tied for low score with 70s in Monday's qualifying play and it was agreed that whoever shot the best card in Wednesday's match play would be considered the medalist. Fischer had a 73; Hagen an 82. But Hagen won his match.

Don Morrow, Eugene, dropped Fischer 2 and 1, while Hagen defeated Steve Kunz of Wenatchee, 4 and 3.

In another championship flight result, Gary Smith, Victoria, defeated John Ross, Vancouver, 4 and 2.

Civic Clerk Before Bench

Charged in city police court yesterday with thefts totalling $1,122.43 from Victoria Civic Credit Union, Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, 51, chief clerk in the city comptroller's department, was remanded to Tuesday.

MacKenzie, an employee of the city for 32 years and currently under suspension, heard a seven-count charge read to him. He is free on $1,000 bail.

Magistrate William Ostler noted to defence counsel that a second charge, containing two counts of $1,200 each in June and July of this year, is also alleged.

The other seven include five counts of $100 each, one of $102.43 and one of $520, and cover a period from July 30, 1960, to June 30 of this year.

MacKenzie, who lives at 3084 Townley, is treasurer of the credit union and president of the City Hall inside staff.

Ernest H. M. Foot, city lawyer and garage owner, was charged in city court with violation of a city inspector's order condemning two floors of a parking garage at 727 Johnson.

Represented by counsel Joseph McKenna, he was remanded to Sept. 6.

Ronald George Fox, 1325 Rudlin, pleaded guilty in Saanich court to charges of careless driving, driving while under suspension, and driving without insurance, following a crash at midnight Tuesday.

He was remanded to Thursday for sentence.

Court was told Fox pulled out to pass another car on the Trans-Canada Highway near Portage, swung back to avoid an oncoming car, lost control and went more than 200 feet out of control before the car rolled onto its roof across a ditch near Admirals Road.

Six juveniles appeared in Colwood juvenile court.

Four pleaded guilty to speeding charges after being checked by radar and were fined $7.50 each. The last admitted operating a boat that was improperly equipped. He also was fined $5.

School Rule Means Boy Must Limp

SECHELT (CP)—The Sechelt School Board is standing by its decision to re-route a school bus away from the home of 13-year-old Michael Klein who is partially crippled from a polio attack. It means Michael will have to limp half a mile over a gravel road every day if he is to catch the bus. His parents say he can't. Rerouting of the bus, which passed their door for six years, will save the school board 80 cents a day.

Papers Outdo Other Media

NEW YORK (UPI) — Daily newspapers had more advertising revenue last year than television, radio, magazines and outdoor advertising combined, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association said yesterday. Newspaper revenue was $3,700,000,000. Revenue of the other four media totalled $3,400,000,000.

Former squadron leader Bill Adams of Toronto organized the get-together.

Liner, Cruise Ship Bump Passengers Stay Asleep

MONTREAL (CP) — The 22,000-ton Cunard liner Carinthia docked in Montreal Wednesday with only a few yards of scraped paint to mark her pre-dawn collision with a cruise ship above Quebec City.

Three or four 15-foot scratches near the port bow of the liner showed where she and the Canada Steamship Lines' Tadoussac banged together in heavy fog. Few of her 873 passengers were aware of the incident.

No one was injured and there was no panic, but a few of the 300 passengers aboard the Tadoussac suffered shock. There were 253 crew members on the cruise ship.

The Tadoussac suffered light damage on the two upper decks. Three cabins and several lifeboats were damaged.

Padded Cell Ruled Out For Saanich

Saanich municipality had planned for every eventuality in the design of its new police and fire department building.

There was to be mahogany paneling in the police chief's office, and a padded cell downstairs.

NOT PRACTICAL

Architects yesterday reluctantly advised municipal council that the padded cell just wasn't practical.

The mahogany paneling for the chief's office will go in.

Padded cells, the architects found as they worked on the $800,000 building, are easier to occupy than build.

PROVES COSTLY

Special canvas coverings and padding must be removed for cleaning and the components are costly. The committee compromised on an additional woman's cell.

The "drunk tank" will be a model of bright, functional cleanliness.

Estimated completion date is March of next year.

First Theft In Campsite

A gasoline camp stove missing from a McDonald Park campsite near Sidney is believed to be the first theft reported from a government campsite in this area.

Theft was reported by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Worth of Los Angeles.

Off to Mountains

City Project Narrowed To Six Ideas

Victoria's centennial project for next year will be chosen from six suggestions—a lagoon at Clover Point, a new city hall, an auditorium, restoration of Bastion Square, restoration of Craigdarroch Castle and development of Cathedral Hill civic precinct.

These six possible projects were chosen yesterday from dozens suggested by the public. They were picked at a meeting of the project subcommittee of Victoria Centennial Committee.

A further meeting will be held Sept. 11 to narrow the choice to four, and to put them in order of preference.

Medal to Be Struck For City Centenary

A special centennial medal will be struck for presentation to Victoria pioneers.

"We haven't picked the design yet, but it will have significance," James K. Nesbitt said last night.

He is seeking the names of all living pioneers who were in Victoria in 1887 or before.

Is Colwood Fair Group Front for Racetrack?

Edgelow Denies Tisdalle Charge

By TED PULFORD

Is the ailing and almost bankrupt B.C. Agricultural Association justified in its pleas for public support—or is it merely a "front" for a group intent on setting up a racetrack and local "Coney Island" on the association's property?

People in high places on Vancouver Island can be found to support both views.

BCAA president Geoffrey Edgelow yesterday vehemently denied the society had any intention of turning its 140 acres of land at Colwood into a racetrack.

THAT'S ALL

"The society is made up of Islanders who want what's good for the Island. We're trying to organize a fair—and that's all."

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle earlier drew a bead on Ald. Edgelow and his association, then let fly with a charge that the fair was "a front for a Coney Island and racetrack scheme."

SUCH BASICS

Mr. Tisdalle went on to snipe at the BCAA's inability to handle such basics as rent payments while still indulging in promotional schemes.

"The racing fans are already adequately served by the North Saanich track, which is admirably situated at the confluence of the Island's transport arteries."

HIS SOLUTION

Mr. Tisdalle trotted out his solution.

"The Saanichton fair," he said, "has inspired the support of most of the agriculture-minded people in the area. It offers the most and the best for young and old.

"Public support is most important in the life of a fair.

NOT AVAILABLE

"By comparison, the BCAA pleas for money by the mayor of Victoria and Ald. Edgelow show this necessary public interest is not available to the BCAA."

Ald. Edgelow joined the debate from his holiday retreat at Shawnigan Lake.

Branding the Tisdalle statement "irresponsible in the extreme," Ald. Edgelow said racing was the farthest thing from the minds of BCAA directors.

"He's got this idea in his head simply because there was a track there years ago. This is a notion entertained by many ill-informed people, but it is just not so."

What, then, does the BCAA intend to do with the Colwood property?

"That depends what the people of the Island want us to do with it," said Mr. Edgelow. "The BCAA wants what they want."

Is membership in the BCAA open to the public, and does it therefore belong to the people?

Mr. Edgelow says it does—even though the people have been slow to admit the connection. Membership in the BCAA is only about 100.

Gordon Head 'Clanking' Explained

Gordon Head residents who have had their sleep disturbed by clanking sounds emanating from a barge anchored close in shore can rest assured they won't soon find their view obstructed by a forest of "Texas towers."

The barge, operated by Vancouver Pile Driving and Contracting Co., Ltd., is not drilling for oil but is preparing the outfall of a new Saanich sewage system.

The round-the-clock work is likely to continue for another two weeks.

Candy Apple Tastes Good

Bumpy Buses Shifted

Buses operating on new schedules have been temporarily rerouted to avoid a section of Gonzales Avenue where residents have complained the heavy vehicles cause their houses to vibrate.

Some half dozen complaints have been received from persons living on Gonzales, between Richmond and Richardson, Ald. Michael Griffin, chairman of city hall's transit committee, said last night.

NEW ROUTE

The new route which went into effect Monday morning took buses from Despard along Gonzales to Richardson. The amended route will be Despard, Richmond and Richardson.

A second temporary change is being considered, Ald. Griffin said. He stressed the amended route to avoid Gonzales does not affect any bus stops.

TWO ISSUES

A meeting of the transit committee will be held in city hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday to consider a number of complaints from the public and to decide if the amended route avoiding Gonzales will stand.

70 More Places To Park

New bus routes adopted by the B.C. Electric this week have given Victoria an additional 70 parking spaces.

Ald. Michael Griffin, chairman of the city hall transit committee, said the 70 additional spaces were made available by a reduction in the number of bus stops in Victoria.

Main street affected is Yates, he said. Bus stops on both sides of the street have been freed.

Parking meters will be installed on the former bus stops, Ald. Griffin said.

Boy's Death Ruled Accidental .22 Bullet Cut Large Artery

Death of a 10-year-old Victoria West boy, killed Monday afternoon by a .22 bullet, was ruled accidental by a coroner's jury yesterday.

The jury told deputy coroner H. E. Alder, following an inquest at McCall's funeral chapel, that death was due to the accidental discharge of a firearm.

IN BASEMENT

Killed was Reginald Alsdorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. R. Alsdorf, 216 Robert. The accident occurred in the basement of the home of T. G. Rayfuse, 512 Selkirk.

Story of the accident was told to the jury by Vincent Liska, also 10, of the Selkirk Street address, chum of the dead boy.

Speaking under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, the boy said:

"I got out the gun and the bullet. I didn't know how to load it, but Reggie did. He loaded it and handed it back to me and it went off.

"He put his hands on his stomach and said 'I'm shot.'

"Then he ran up the stairs and out of the basement. He fell against a gate, got up and ran to the front of the house, fell again, then got up and ran closer to the house and fell down."

LYING ON LAWN

Const. Douglas Grant of city police said he and another officer found the boy lying on the lawn in front of the house, near the front steps. In a brief examination he could find no pulse, and noticed a small wound in the stomach. The boy was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Mr. Alder asked the Liska boy if this was the first time he had handled a gun.

"Well," was the reply, "I have been hunting with my dad."

ARTERY CUT

Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee, said direct cause of death was perforation by the bullet of the large artery which carries blood through the body.

Mr. Rayfuse, Vincent's stepfather, said the gun involved was a Belgian-made 22 he had had since he was a boy himself.

LOCKED UP

It was kept, he said, in a drawer in a chest in the basement. He said he kept his ammunition locked in a box on the basement rafters.

The lone bullet found by the boys, he said, was in a box containing other items. He had no idea it was there.

Vladimir's a Strange Cookie Knows All About Social Credit

* * *

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

* * *

THE COLD WAR: The only Russian I've ever had anything to do with was a vodka-belting diplomat named Vladimir.

He was a strange cookie.

At the time, Vladimir was third or fourth secretary at the Russian embassy in New Zealand and we met when a mutual friend asked us all along to a show by a stage hypnotist.

Vladimir and his wife, judging by their laughter, enjoyed the show immensely — until the hypnotist got one of his stooges to take the part of a Communist making a political speech.

Vladimir and his wife became stone-faced.

Afterwards, in heavily-accented English, Vladimir confided that he had indeed enjoyed the show except for the part about the Communist politician.

"It voss not foony!" he said.

"Okay, Vladimir," said our mutual friend. "If you like I will telephone the ambassador and tell him you did not laugh at the bit about the Communist."

"Thank you," declared a deadly serious Vladimir. "And vile you are about it vould you also tell ambassador that my vife did not laugh either!"

* * *

AFTER THIS we saw quite a bit of Vladimir, who usually came armed with a bottle of genuine Russian vodka. He wouldn't drink anything else and downed it by the tumblerful.

Even so he knew everything he was doing.

Others might become loose-tongued but not Vladimir.

"Vot do you think of the guffernmint?" he would slyly ask as the evening wore on. "Vot is going to hoppen in the next electshoon?"

It was always somewhat disturbing to find out that he knew a lot more about local politics and history than most of the people who were born and raised in the country.

About this time I was doing some work for New Zealand's Social Crediters and Vladimir completely unnerved me by giving me a complete and accurate resume of the theories of the Socred founder, Major C. H. Douglas.

"I haff read his books," he explained.

* * *

VLADIMIR BEGAN deluging me with Communist literature, magazines and books — always rolled so that anyone could see at a glance what they were. It was highly embarrassing.

"Here is a good book for you," he said one day. "And it voss written before the revolution."

I glanced through it later and sure enough it was pre-revolution stuff—all about the miserable life the peasants led under the brutal, sadistic rule of the Czars.

When the Bolshoi Ballet came to town Vladimir sent us a gilt-edged invitation to a Russian embassy cocktail party. It was a gala affair, even if a little spooky.

There was one notable incident.

"Well, hi!" exclaimed the wife of an American diplomat we also knew. Then, in those piercing tones that carry to every corner of a room, she said:

"Isn't it just terrible, all these Reds living the 'life of Riley' while back in Russia those millions of poor, dominated people, all the time being told to do this, and to do that. Well, it was sure nice seeing you but I've gotta go. Our ambassador has told us we have to circulate at these affairs."

* * *

I ONLY SAW Vladimir once more. One day, on a main street, we bumped into one another.

"I'm leaving tomorrow for Russia," he said.

"Gosh, Vladimir," I answered. "That's too bad."

"Vot do you mean?" he shouted. "I am glad and happy to return to the Soviet Union."

"Now don't be silly," I answered. "I merely meant I have been your friend, we probably won't see each other again and that's too bad."

"No, no!" he raved. "You didn't mean that. It is not too bad I return . . . I am glad and happy!"

It was impossible to convince him but he suddenly broke out into a conspiratorial smile.

"Ve vill fight soon, your country and mine," Vladimir told me. "There vill be var. But I vant you to know this. If I voss ordered to shoot you I vouldn't because you have been mine friend. There are always vays of getting around these things."

A few weeks later our mutual friend received a card, mailed from Helsinki. It merely said:

"Leaving tomorrow for Moscow. Please don't write. Goodbye. V."

Duncan Woodsmen Told

Rain Might Help

DUNCAN — Rain and a new forest closure order came together Wednesday. Full closure regulations, in operation for several weeks up to Aug. 17, had been partially lifted and some men were able to go back for early shift work.

A B.C. Forest Service official at Duncan said Wednesday the fire hazard was "extremely high" and had necessitated another complete closure from midnight Tuesday. He said the rain might alter the situation, but was unable to say when.

For the first time in many weeks, cloudy skies dropped the temperatures from the 80s and 90s to the upper 60s and several hours of rain last night has laid the dust. There is promise of more to come.

Quiet Ucluelet Becoming Boom Town Thanks to Big Iron Mine, Hydro Line

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Outdoors Editor

UCLUELET—The B.C. Power Commission and the Maggie Lake iron mine are transforming this usually-serene west coast fishing village into a typical rip-roaring B.C. boom town.

The B.C. Power Commission has started its crash program to build a $2,700,000 hydro transmission line to Ucluelet and Tofino by March 1.

* * *

Main purpose of the line is to provide power for Noranda's new $7,000,000 Maggie Lake iron mine near Ucluelet which has commitments to start shipping iron concentrates to Japan in March.

The 69,000-volt line, which will feed power from B.C. Hydro's Ash River development, will also bring power to 300 Tofino and Ucluelet residents now served by a diesel power plant at Tofino airport.

* * *

The Maggie Lake mine development has created a hive of activity in the Ucluelet area.

The mine is expected to increase the population of this area, which now has about 1,200 persons, by 30 per cent, including mine workers, their families and those who move in with allied industries.

* * *

A complete auto court of one single and 10 double units has been transported lock, stock and barrel to Ucluelet by barge from Vancouver and will soon be used for dwellings.

Another contractor has started to build 20 new houses in Ucluelet which already is filled with mine workers.

* * *

Eight transmission line location survey crews and five clearing survey crews, 30 men in all, now are in the field for B.C. Hydro.

Power Commission expects to have 150 men logging 1,500,000 board feet of timber for the transmission line and another 70 men working on line construction.

* * *

MacMillan and Bloedel will log 18,000,000 board feet of timber along its holdings adjacent to the Alberni-Tofino Road, to clear the right of way for the power line.

The job is rush, rush, rush, to meet the mining company deadline.

* * *

Construction has started on a 7½-mile road from the Maggie Lake mine, near Kennedy Lake, to Toquart Bay where a $1,000,000 wharf and facilities are being built.

A $3,000,000 concentrating plant and mill operation, located at the mine and wharf, is scheduled to be in operation by the end of January.

* * *

Some 130 men now are working in the big open pit mine, clearing away topsoil to uncover the magnetite ore so actual mining can start. Ore will be stockpiled until mill and concentrator are ready.

A score of giant Euclid trucks, shovels and diamond drill rigs are working two shifts so the shipping deadline can be reached.

* * *

It is expected the mine will have enough ore to last at least 10 years and from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of concentrate will be shipped daily.

The iron claim is more than ½ square mile but the actual open pit where mining will take place is pear-shaped and about 1,500 feet long and 1,200 feet wide.

* * *

It will be mined to sea level—a depth of 450 feet on the high side and 230 feet on the low side.

The magnetite ore will be taken out of the mine in chunks, sometimes four to five feet across. This will be crushed at the mine into about ¾-inch rocks and non-magnetic rock will be discarded.

* * *

The fine concentrate will be taken to the Toquart Bay wharf site, where it will be ground to sand size and undergo more magnetic separation before shipment.

Between 120 and 150 men will be employed when the mine is in full operation.

* * *

Rain may prove to be a bugbear to the operation because this area has about the highest rainfall in B.C.

Last January some 32.81 inches of rain fell and in February it was 30.22 inches. Rain in the bottom of the pit would be a nuisance.

* * *

Jim Stevens, transmission line project engineer for B.C. Hydro, said the line is a good project from a utility point of view because, without the demand for power from the mining company, Ucluelet and Tofino could have waited for years for the more economical hydro power.

If B.C. Hydro had been unable to deliver power by March the mining company would have installed its own power system.

* * *

There will be stepped-down transformers at Ash River, Maggie Lake and the Tofino-Ucluelet road junction.

The transmission line will generally follow the Alberni-Tofino road and much of the scenic timber along the Taylor and Kennedy Rivers will be felled for the right of way.

Much of the scenic value of this route had already been spoiled by logging by MacMillan and Bloedel along the narrow river banks in their tree farm licence.

Mr. Stevens said that in some instances the power line has been diverted from the river to preserve scenic spots on park reserve property.

MacMillan and Bloedel said they would continue with their beautification projects along the river but some planned replanting will be curtailed because of the power line.

Construction of the line is a race against the weather.

"In winter snow gets to a depth of 20 feet in Sutton Pass, we must have that part completed before Christmas," Mr. Stevens said.

First Mayor's Grandson In Running

ALBERNI — Fred Bishop, grandson of this city's first mayor, Charles F. Bishop, will be a candidate for mayor in the December elections.

Mr. Bishop, who was an alderman for 10 years, is seeking election "as a strictly independent candidate."

REDS 'THREATEN EVERYONE' WITH SUPER-BOMB TESTS

Kennedy Mum On Retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Wednesday night accused the Soviets of posing a hazard to every human being throughout the world by resuming atomic tests.

Kennedy ordered Ambassador Arthur Dean recalled from the nuclear test ban talks to see what the United States should do.

In a White House statement, Kennedy left open the question of what decision the United States will make about resuming nuclear test explosions, now that the Soviets plan to begin again.

The United States and Britain have been under self-imposed moratoriums since the Geneva talks on a treaty to outlaw tests started nearly three years ago in October, 1958.

'DEEPEST CONCERN'

Kennedy's statement, issued about three hours after word reached Washington of the Soviet decision, said:

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing will be met with deepest concern and resentment throughout the world.

HAZARD PRESENTED

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing presents a hazard to every human being throughout the world by increasing the dangers of nuclear fallout.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume [illegible] weapons testing is in utter disregard of the desire of mankind for a decrease in the arms race.

"The [illegible] announcement for Soviet resumption of weapons testing [illegible] the very [illegible] which they themselves have created by threatening [illegible] which has existed in Germany and Berlin.

Berlin 'Peril' Faced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Wednesday described the situation in Berlin as "fraught with peril." He said the United States is determined to convince Russia that the West means to defend its rights there.

Kennedy, at a press conference, announced three more steps in dealing with the crisis in Berlin:

FURTHER STEPS

1. A meeting of the Western Big Four foreign ministers to begin in Washington [illegible] to make this world [illegible] another step in the process of continuing consultation among the Big Four "in light of the Soviet dealings."

2. The appointment of retired Gen. Lucius Clay as his personal representative in Berlin. He called Clay, who masterminded the 1948-49 airlift which thwarted the Communists' ground blockade of Berlin, a man of outstanding ability and experience.

'ALL CHANNELS'

Kennedy reiterated that the U.S. would use all available channels to ascertain if a peaceful settlement can be reached on the problems of Europe and in particular Germany.

"I do not see that there could be any solution, which would serve the world, on Berlin by force," Kennedy said.

Forest Ban Over Soon?

Forest service officials said last night that in view of moderate rains which fell over most parts of Vancouver Island yesterday the total woods closure on the island's east coast would be reviewed "within 24 hours."

Showers were forecast for this morning.

Defiance of Military Mounting in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's top military leaders ruled Wednesday that leftist vice-president Joao Goulart must not return to Brazil "in the present situation" and attempt to take over the presidency. (See earlier story Page 3).

Their edict came as defiance of the military was reported to be mounting among legislators engaged in debate in an attempt to decide the nation's leadership and as Goulart was flying toward Brazil.

The military manifesto referred to the "absolute inconvenience in the present situation of Goulart's return to the country."

Collision Hurts Sailor 'He Shot Out Like Jet'

Hurled to the pavement when an empty flat-deck truck trailer jack-knifed and slammed into the car in which he was a passenger, a young naval rating suffered severe injuries yesterday afternoon.

Melvin Smith, 21, of HMCS Assiniboine, whose parents live in Penticton, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He sustained a fracture of the skull and other undetermined injuries. His condition last night was fair.

Amazingly, David Charles Eastick, 3983 Blenkinsop, driver of the car, escaped with bruises and torn clothing although his side of the car was almost demolished.

UNDER OVERPASS

The collision occurred immediately under the railway overpass on Johnson Street west of the bridge.

Eastick was driving towards Victoria and the truck, driven by Robert Skillings, 3446 Wascana, driver for Victoria Van and Storage, was heading towards Esquimalt.

Coming around the bend into the underpass of the road, the empty truck trailer skidded to the left.

Robert Irwin, 1380 Rockland, was driving out onto Johnson from Songhees.

"The trailer swung across the road," he said, "and there was a terrific crash. The navy lad didn't have anywhere to go.

"I saw a body shoot out of the car's door like a jet and hit the road. I hurried over and tried to make him comfortable."

SLAMMED BACK

Eastick's car was slammed backward about 25 feet in the crash, pinned between the truck cab and the trailer. Its entire left side was crushed in and there was no space at all on the driver's side between dashboard and seat.

"I don't know how I wasn't hurt," Eastick said later.

OUT THE DOOR

"The other chap went out the door the instant we hit, and I guess I was thrown over to his side."

Traffic was diverted from both ends of the bridge for almost an hour before the car and truck could be cleared away.

Soldier Gets Six Months For Long Hair

SEATTLE (AP)—A Washington soldier was sentenced to six months at hard labor and fined $420 at a court martial for failure to obey his commanding officer's order to get a haircut, it was reported yesterday.

An army spokesman was quoted as saying Pte. Theodore Fagin had been warned several times to get a haircut but failed to do so.

"He was disobedient," the army spokesman said. "Disobeying an order, even when told to get a haircut, is serious business."

All Nations Stunned By Soviet Decision

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union stunned the world last night by announcing it will resume experimental explosions of nuclear weapons because of pressure from "imperialist countries."

The Soviet announcement warned that Russian scientists have worked out projects "for creating a series of super-powerful nuclear bombs" with a yield equivalent of up to 100,000,000 tons of TNT.

And the announcement added rockets similar to those used to boost the Soviet Union's two astronauts into orbit around the earth are capable of delivering the new bombs to any point on earth.

MEASURES TAKEN

The announcement—certain to make the United States review its suspension of nuclear tests since Aug. 22, 1958—was transmitted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Soviet scientists have taken every measure to minimize the harmful consequences of nuclear fallout on living organisms, Tass said.

'OPEN SECRET'

Canada's official policy is against nuclear weapon testing.

The Soviet announcement declared:

"It is an open secret that the United States is standing on the threshhold of carrying out underground nuclear tests.

'CONCEALED FORM'

"It is obvious that such tests, even if it asserted that they were conducted for peaceful purposes, are nothing else but a concealed form of perfecting the available nuclear weapons or working on its new types."

The Russians announced suspension of nuclear weapons tests March 31, 1958. Dwight Eisenhower, then president, announced the following Aug. 22 that U.S. tests had been suspended.

GENEVA TALKS

The United States, Russia and Britain have been negotiating a permanent test ban in Geneva since Oct. 31, 1958. Both the United States and the Soviet Union threatened to resume nuclear testing if the negotiations were unsuccessful.

But until now, neither had been willing to risk offending world opinion, particularly among non-aligned nations where opposition to testing has been strong.

'ARMED REBUFF'

"In order to discourage the aggressors from criminal playing with fire it is necessary to make sure that he knows and sees that there is a power in the world which is ready to give an armed rebuff to any encroachment on the independence and security of peace-loving states and that the hand of retribution will reach the aggressor in his own den," the statement said.

'NOT THREATENING'

But, it continued, the Soviet Union is not threatening any one nor does it intend to attack any nation.

"The Soviet government solemnly declares that the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. will never be the first to resort to arms," it said.

INVASION RECALLED

The announcement explained the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union in 1941 was successful because of the German army's superiority in military equipment.

The Russians swept away the prospects of the Geneva conference in a blast of scorn for the West—and particularly France.

'OBEDIENT TOOL'

The Kremlin statement said "the entire course of negotiations in Geneva proves that the Western powers pursue the aim of actually legalizing those types of nuclear tests in which they are interested, and of establishing an international control body which would be an obedient tool in their hands.

"Hypocritical statements of representatives of the U.S. and Great Britain about the termination of tests and international control have proved to be nothing more than camouflage.

"France, encouraged by the United States and Britain, has been carrying out nuclear tests already for a long time in spite of warnings by the U.S.S.R. that it would be forced to resume tests if

Hell Bombs Outmatch U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear bombs in the 20, 30, 50 and 100,000,000-ton size, spoken of in the Moscow announcement that Russia plans to resume nuclear testing, are much bigger than anything the United States is supposed to have.

In atomic weapon parlance, a one-ton bomb has the explosive power equivalent to one ton of TNT. The first atomic bomb of the Second World War, which devastated the Japanese city of Hiroshima, was 20,000 tons, or only one-five-thousandths the power of a 100,000,000-ton bomb.

RCMP Rouse Chinese Ire

TORONTO (TNS) — A meat-cleaver in Winnipeg became a sign this week of the unrest in Canada's troubled Chinese community of 70,000.

Chinese communities across the country are taking a long, hard look at the events that led up to the attack by a Chinese-Canadian on a special RCMP officer last Friday.

VICTORIA, TOO

Special meetings have been called in Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Chinese in Victoria, Ottawa and Montreal are expected to follow suit.

Toronto's Chinese said the community will "fully investigate" the meat-cleaver incident.

Const. Sang Tuen Wong, on loan from Hong Kong police to help RCMP crack a Canada-wide Chinese immigration racket, suffered a four-inch scalp wound when he sought to question a Winnipeg restaurant employee.

LITTLE FELLOW

A Chinese Community Centre official in Toronto said: "They've been pushing Canada's Chinese too far. They've been going after the little fellow who doesn't want to involve his own family here.

"The government originally promised it was launching investigations to get at the ringleaders of the underground illegal movement of Chinese."

English Penny Wins Parking Case

NANAIMO (CP) — Clifford Williams got an overtime parking charge tossed out of court Wednesday with a defence that could have widespread repercussions elsewhere.

He contended, and Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts agreed, that "pennies" and "nickels" are not legal tender in Canada. Yet, he said, these were the terms used on Nanaimo's parking meters.

RCMP tagged Williams' car for overtime parking July 14 beside a meter reading: "12 minutes for each penny—60 minutes for one nickel."

Williams produced in court an English penny—much too large to go into any meter.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts described Williams' defence as "novel" and called a half-hour adjournment while court officials read law on the subject and police produced a meter official in court to confirm the wording.

After determining that Nanaimo's parking bylaw wording does not conform to that on the meters—it uses the term "cents" instead of "pennies," the magistrate said pennies and nickels are not covered in the description of legal tender under the Currency Act.

He then dismissed the charge—with some advice to city fathers.

They should, he suggested, make haste to amend their bylaw to conform to the reading on the meters.
